What shapes our lives?
What molds us into the people we are?
We live in a different world which we direct and leads us at the same time.
It's a world in which we search for answers or dare to reason,
in which we can sing and use old talents or speak and learn new ones.
We live in a world where we can carve out our own dreams.

CURRICULUM

Team Work Is the Key To Poly's Leadership

The work of administration and counseling at Poly during 1971-72 can be summed up in two words — TEAM WORK.

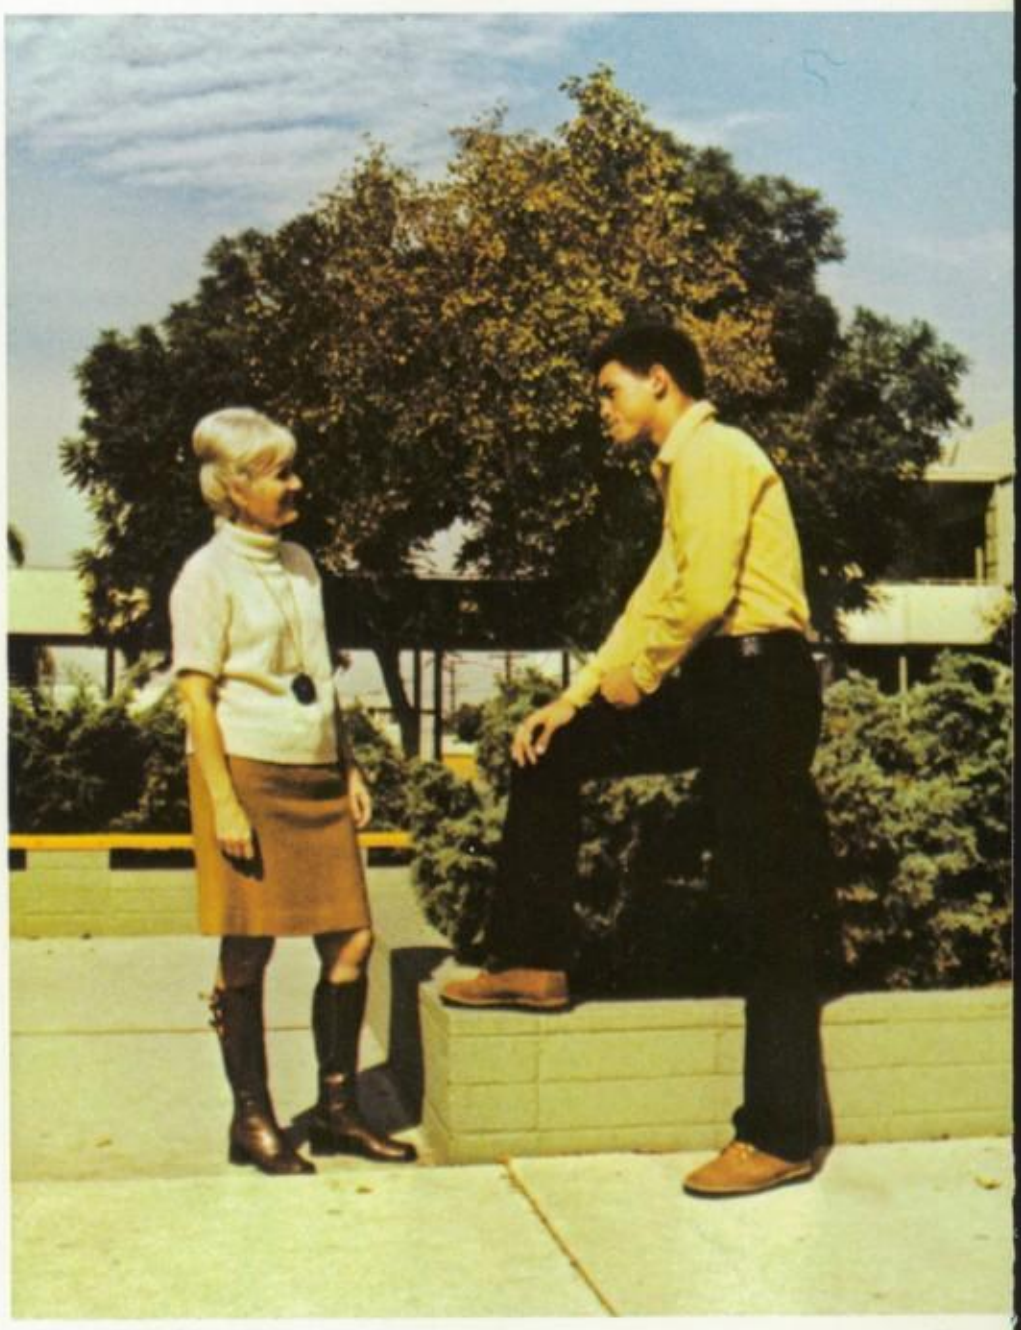
This is the way it worked. There was one team office for the sophomores, one for the juniors, and one for the seniors. Whenever a student needed any kind of assistance, whether it was counseling, program changes, discipline matters, getting a re-admit or seeing about taking a test, all he needed to do was go to the team office for his grade level.

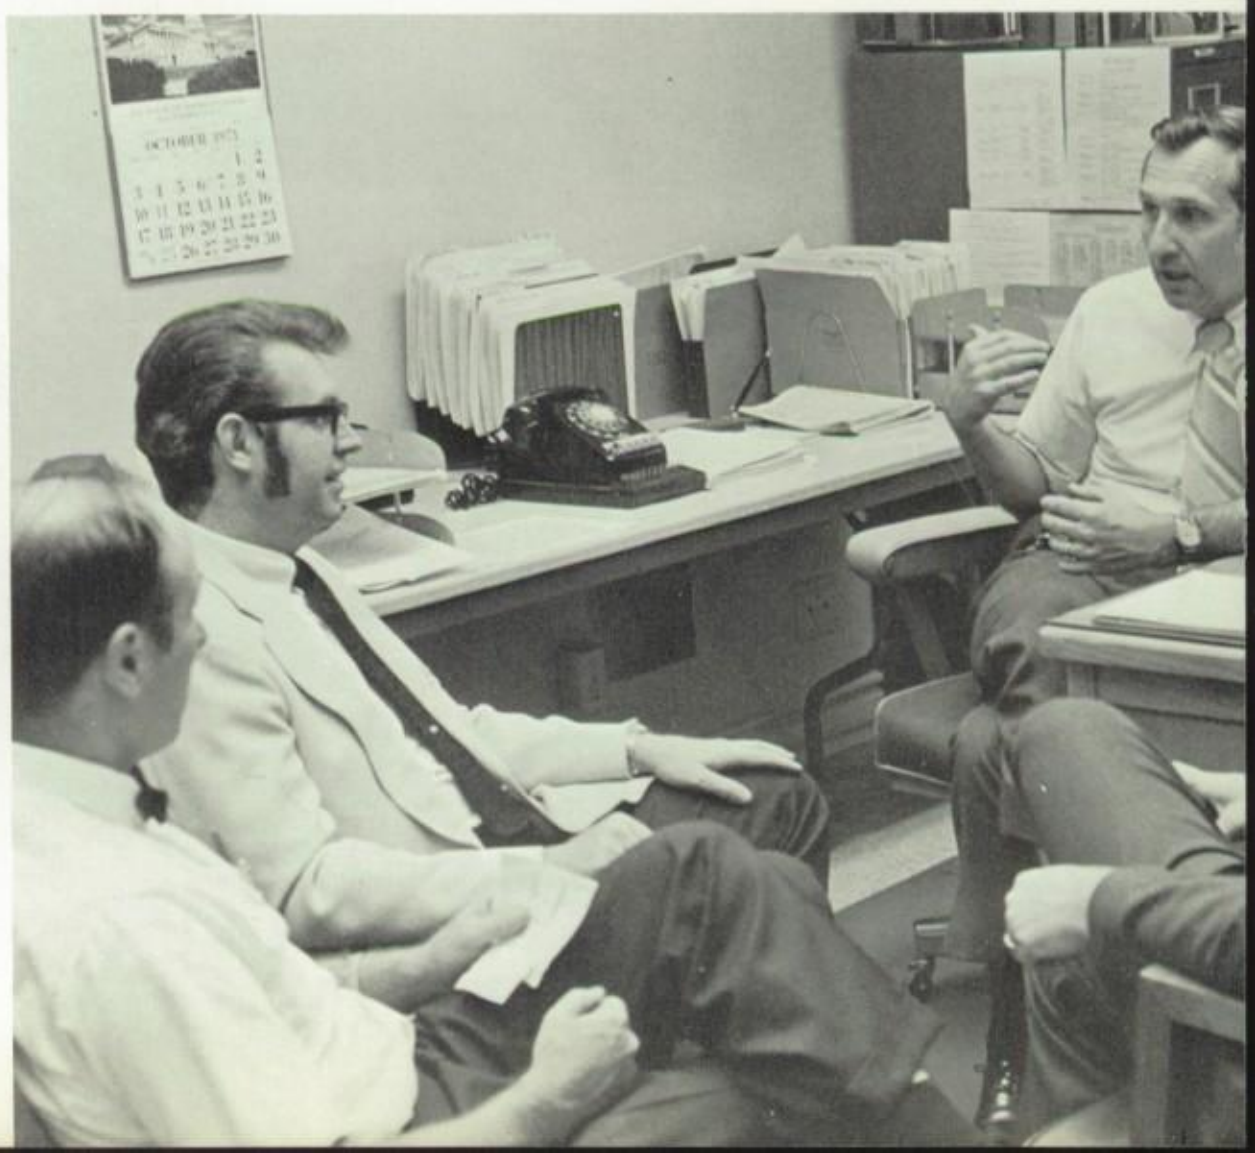
The team system was a move to make it easier for the administrators, clerks and counselors to communicate and work together. "The whole idea is to take as much as we can and concentrate it in one place," said principal Jack DuBois. "Hopefully, when a student goes to his team office, one of the administrators or counselors will always be there to cope with the situation."

Thus the team system was designed as a possible help to students. It also aided the teachers. While the teams were caring for attendance, counseling, programming, and discipline, the teachers, as well as the vice principal, were left free to concentrate more on instruction.

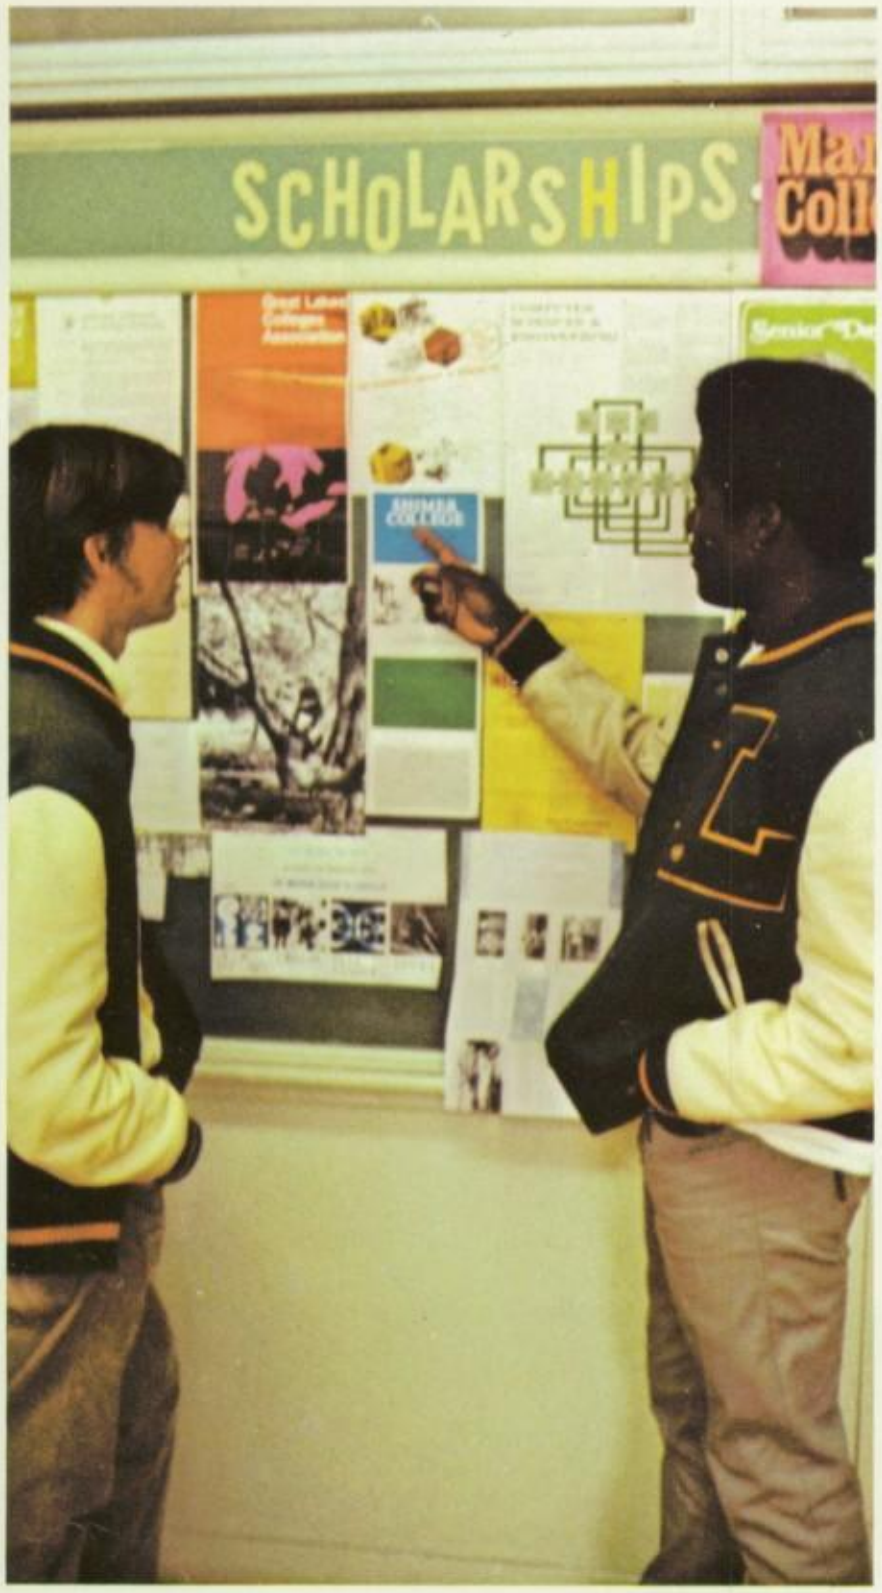
Wayne Piercy was the administrator in charge of seniors in room 133. He served as assistant principal and Team 12 Leader. The two Team 12 counselors were Donald Greenfield and Shirley Wirls. The attendance clerk was Anne Murphy and the counseling clerk was Gladys Scrivens. The office assistants were Joe Callier and Margot Levy.

On the Team 11 staff in room 131 were Neil Bradley (Team Leader and assistant principal) and David Meacham (assistant principal). The counselors, Leon Forman and Glen Riley, dealt with personal and schedule problems. Billie Hetlinger was counseling clerk, and Mona Allen was attendance clerk. The office assistants were Ray Garmon and Wade Kirkland.





DuBois conducts top level conference.



TEAMS: Best Use of Personnel

Edward Nichols was assistant principal and Team 10 Leader in room 133A. Helen Hansen also worked as assistant principal. The counselors for Team 10 were Henry Lichenstein and Ardie Boyd. The attendance clerk was Doris McGrew, and the counseling clerk was Pat Silvers. The office assistants were Don Clemmy and John Green.

William Miller was the co-ordinator of all grade levels and administered all counseling functions. Wendol Murray, the new vice principal, was Team Co-ordinator.

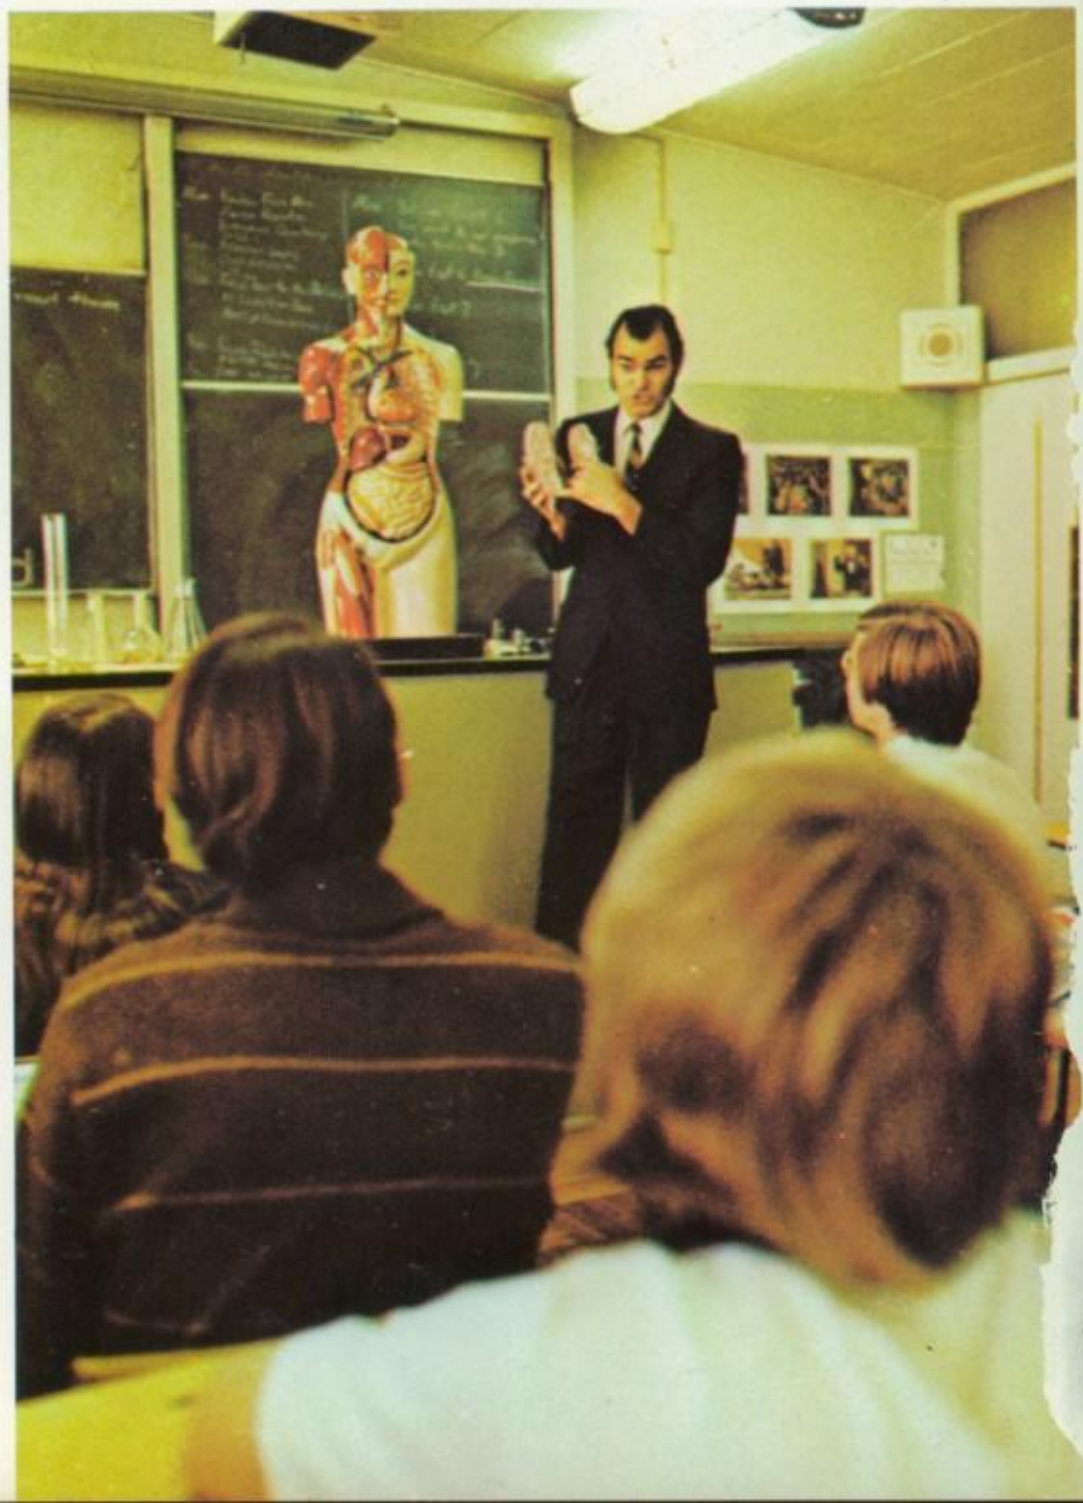
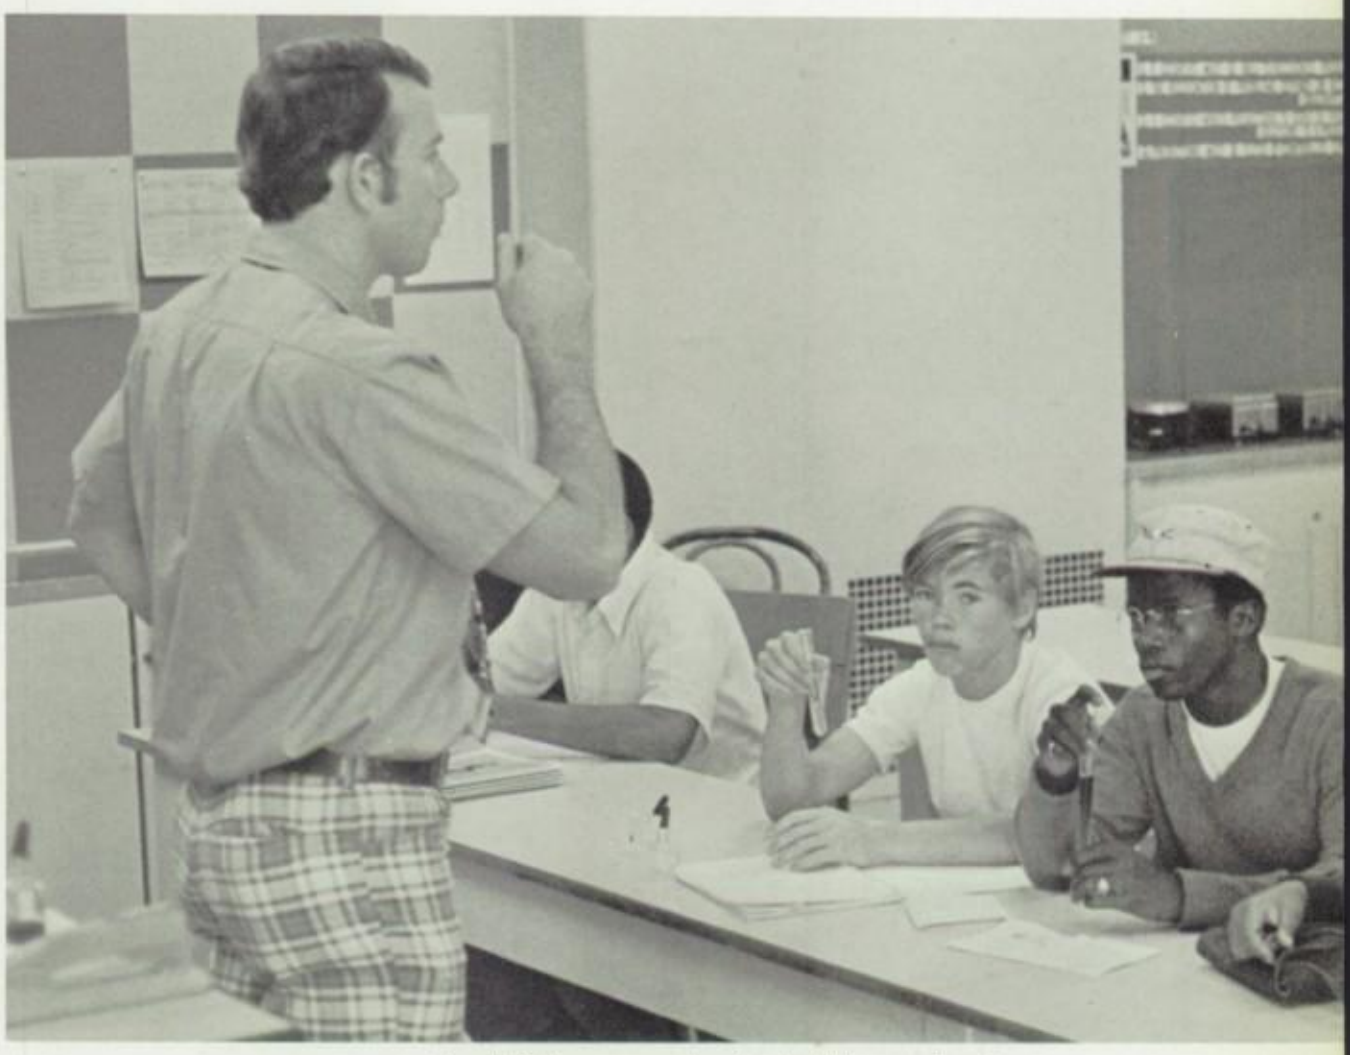
James Duncan "tries" to explain mysteries of Biology.

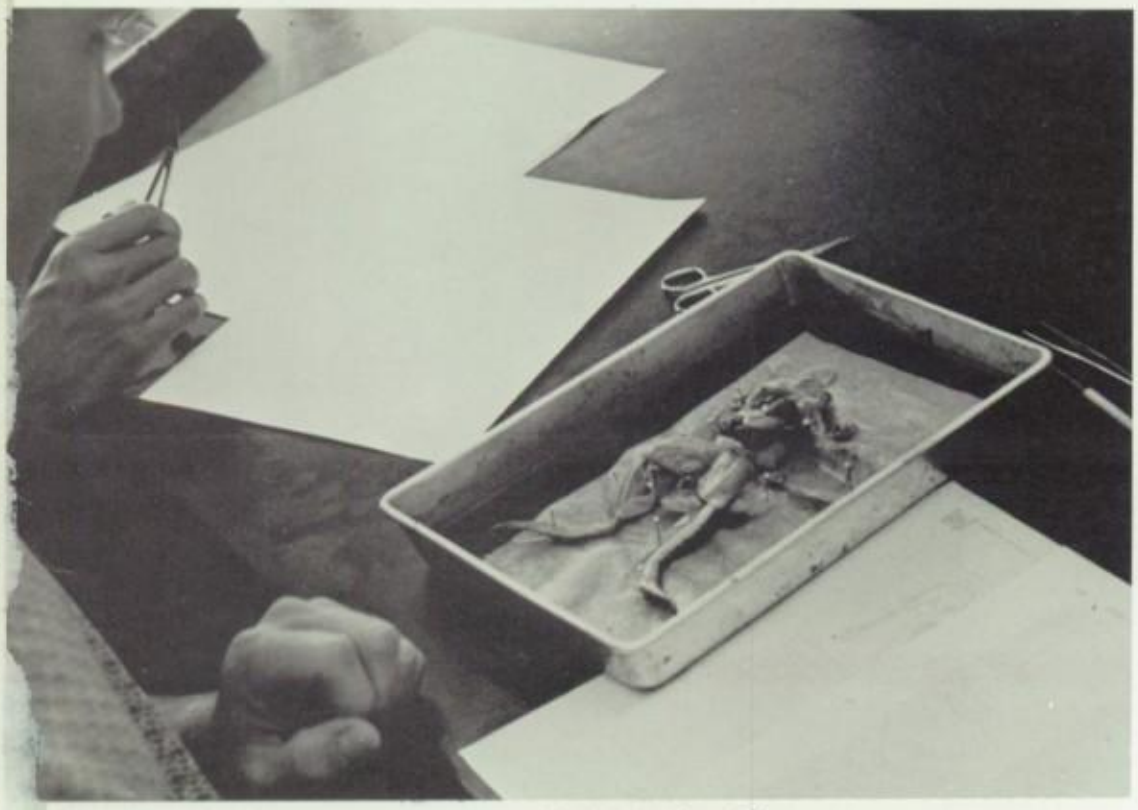


The workings of the inner man aids Marcelin Fortain's lecture.

Lab set for chemistry demonstration.



Harold Cole prepares class for test-tube experiment.



Dissection phase of biology ends with frog.

Science Prepares for College Courses, Work

Although the science department budget was increased, it was still at a minimum this year. However, this did not keep the department from implementing classes and using new teaching techniques. The emphasis was on lab-oriented courses, and the core of science instruction was prerequisites to college Biology, Chemistry and Physics.

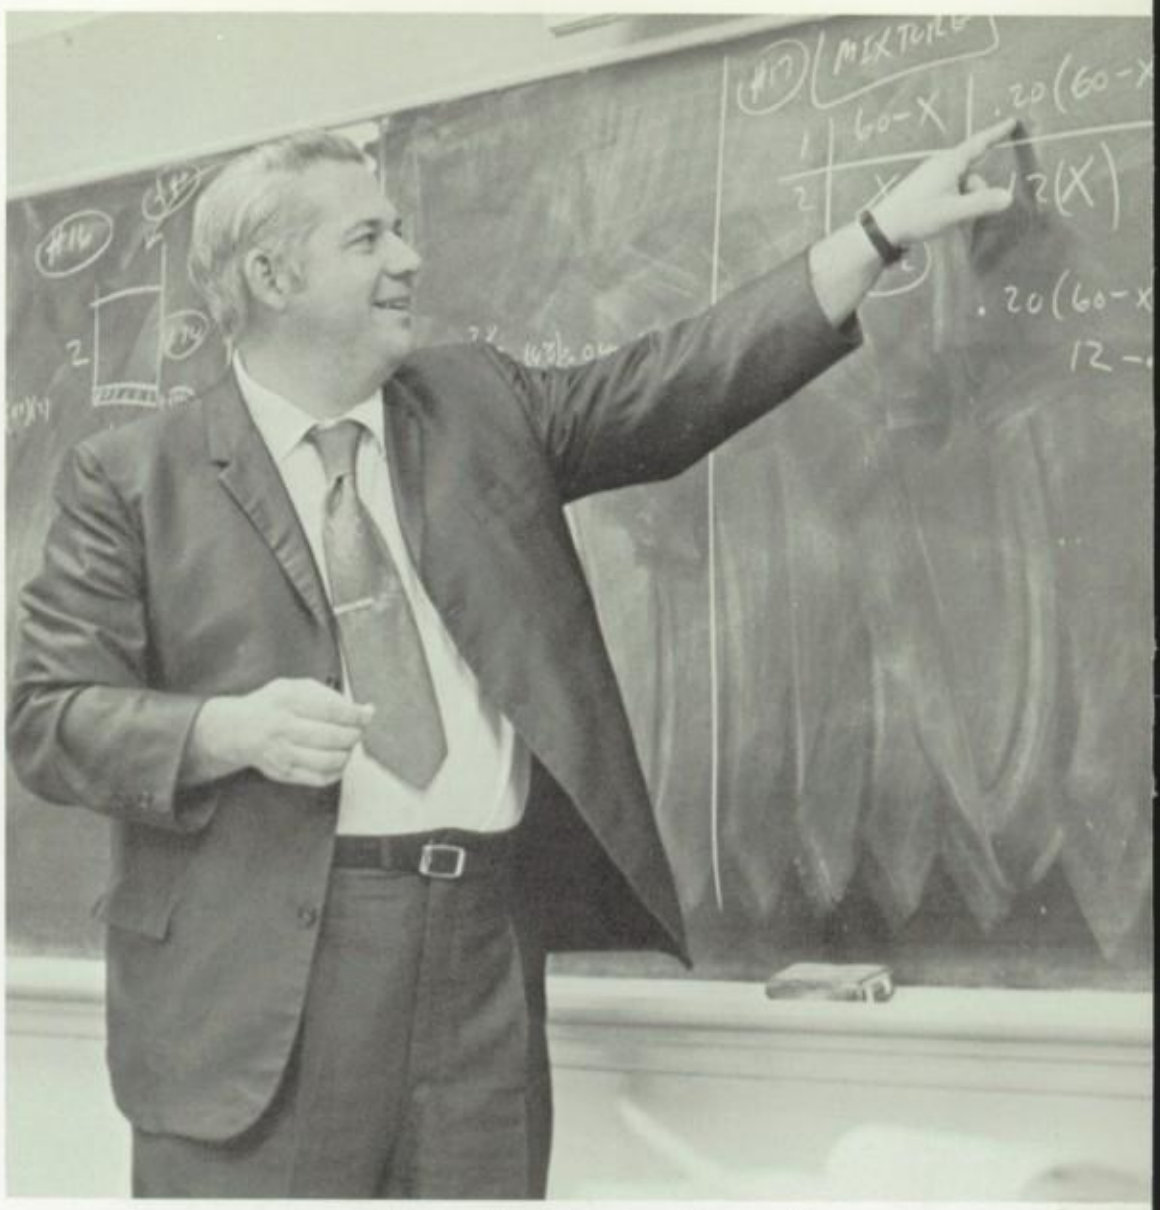
Marcelin Fortain was in charge of a new class entitled Allied Health. This was a vocationally oriented course in the science field, offering students work experience in nearby hospitals. Kenneth Krafthefer, teacher of Biology and Health Education and Harold Cole, teacher of Biology and Life Science, were new additions to the department this year.

Math Develops Basic And Advanced Skills

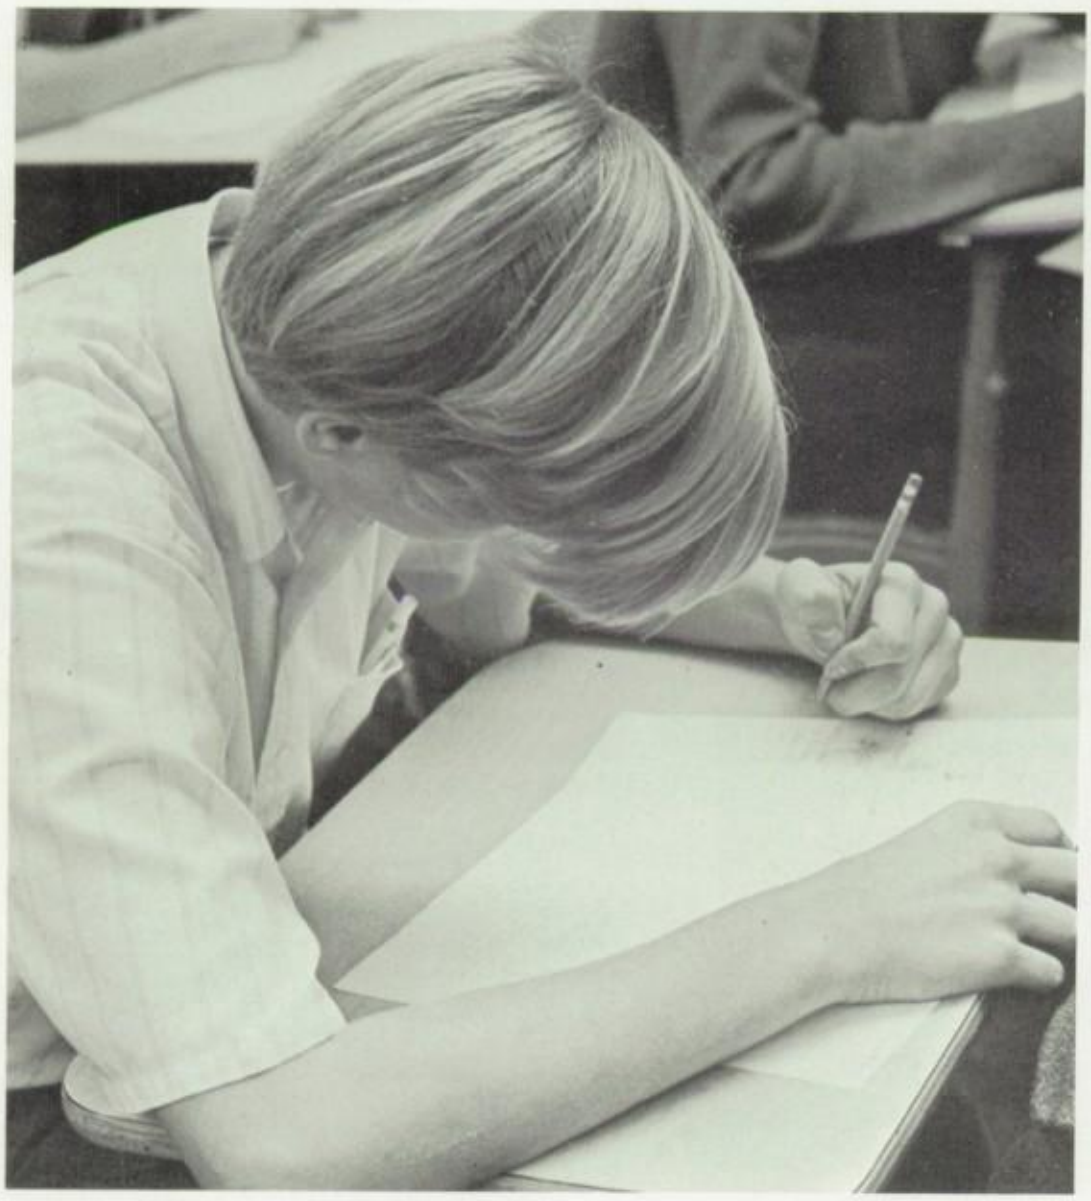
To help them prepare for the future, students at Poly were offered a wide variety of Mathematics classes. These classes were Algebra, Geometry, Intermediate Algebra and Trigonometry, Slide Rule, and Computer Math, as well as General and Advanced Math. Calculus was also offered at Poly. It is a college course which can be taken by any qualifying senior.

One of the more interesting and competitive functions of the Math curriculum was the Math Club. Led by sponsor Roy Anderson, its members competed in math contests against schools throughout Southern California.

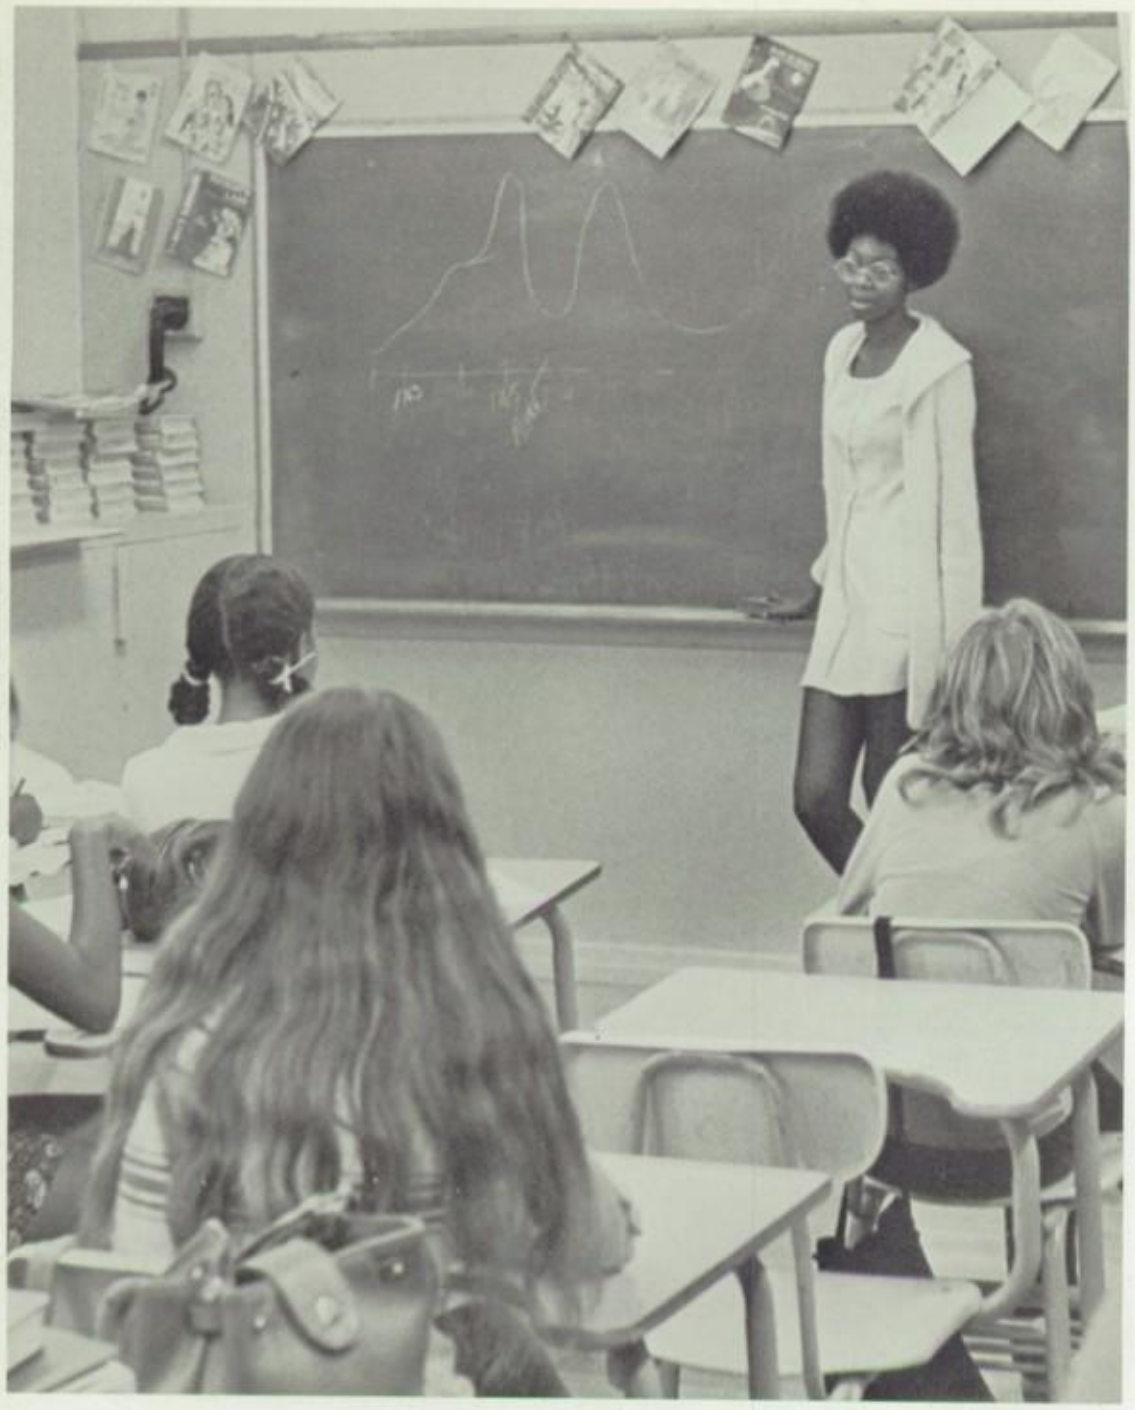
Ron Prescott was chairman of the department.



William Smith points out a mixture problem.



Problems, problems, problems!



Oral reports play a vital role in learning to express yourself.

Variety of Electives Is English Format

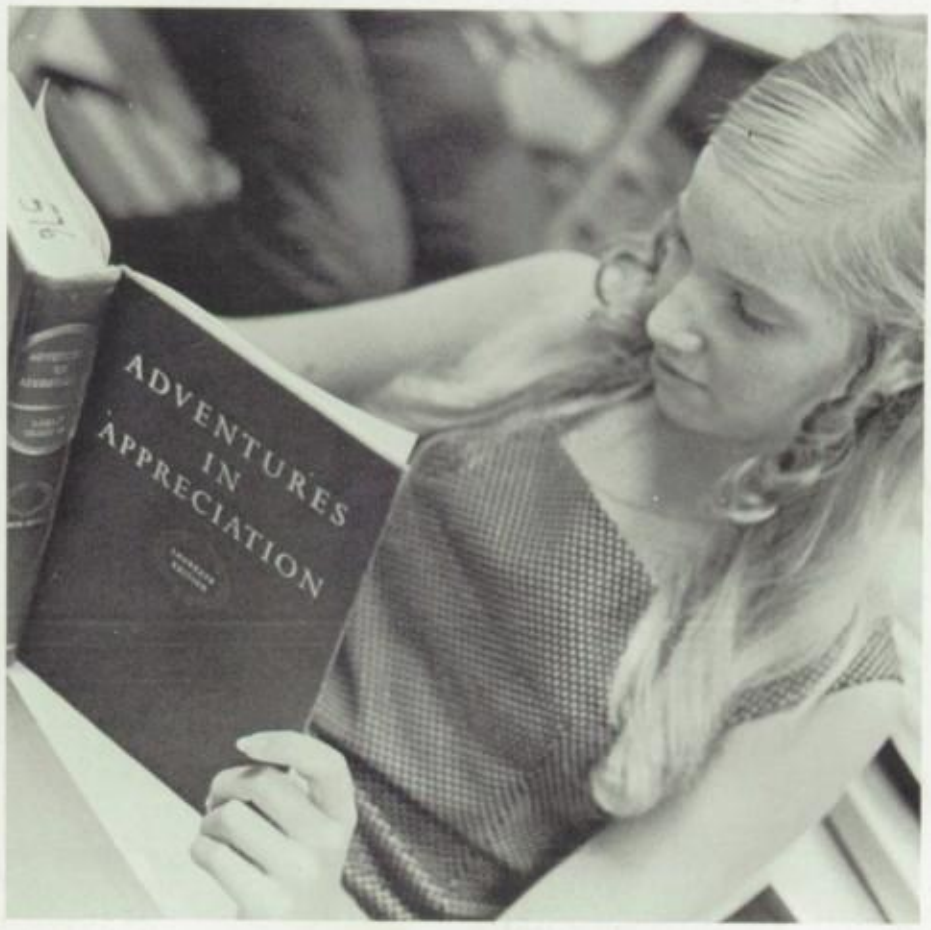
Standards at Poly High School still rate high in the field of English. One of the main reasons is due to the many electives offered to juniors and seniors. These electives included Folklore, Film Analysis, Western Literature, Literature of Oral Tradition, Comparative Literature, Creative Writing, Literature of Love, and others. Each of these classes possess their own unique qualities, and yet each was involved with English.

Sophomores were required to take a year of English. Due to this requirement, elective courses were not open to them. A unit system was used. A sophomore orientation unit was included in the English curriculum. It consisted of the history and standards of Poly; the Poly handbook was used as the text.

New teachers to the English department were: Christi Kolar, Selective Reading; Beth Campbell, English A3 (Sophomore English); Jane Hodgdon, Reading Phonology; Joel Tankerson, English A3; Bernice Whiteleather, Speech; Gail Haack, English B3 (Junior English).

Department heads were Lucy Wadleigh, 10th grade and Elizabeth Loughran, 11th and 12th grades.

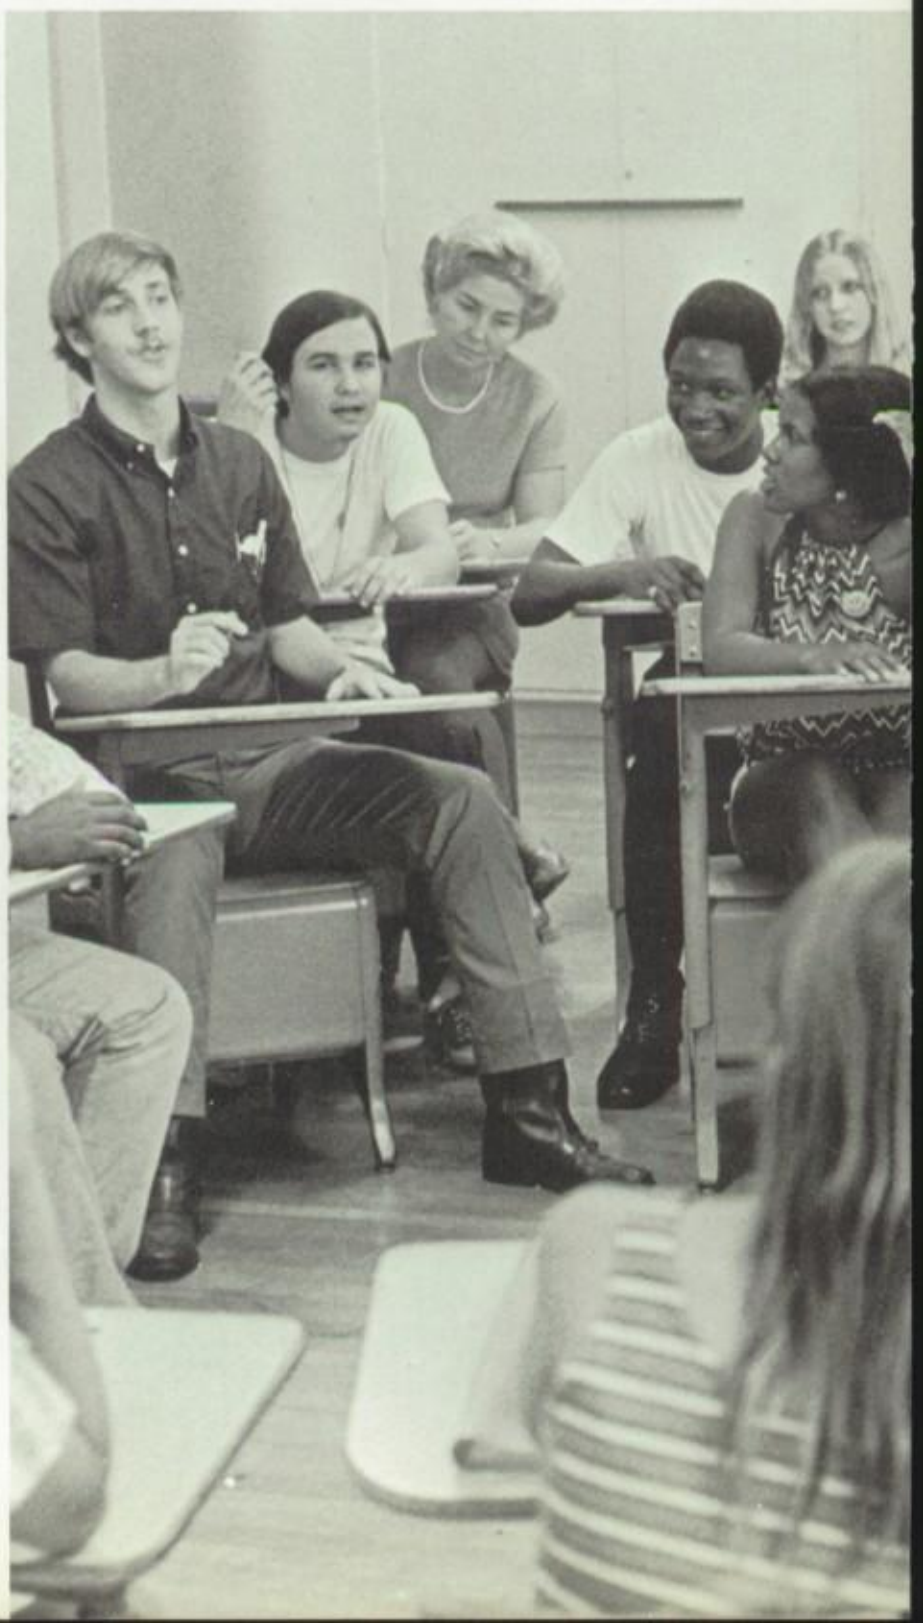
English provides a challenge for both Cheryl Loftis and Randy Ray.



Teri Saddler ventures into the literary world.

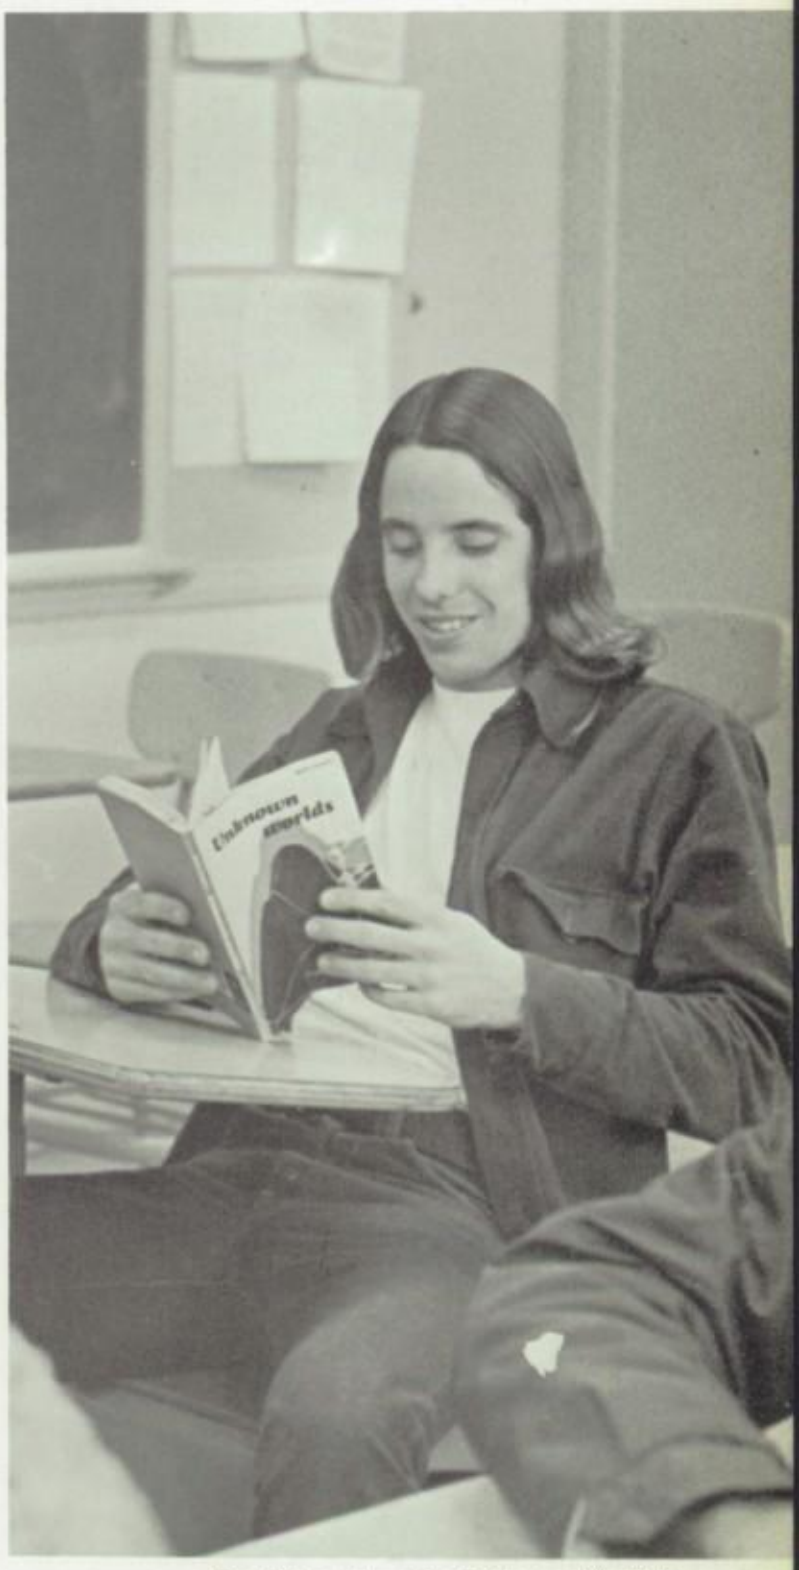
Mark Brooks, classmates and English skills.

Richard Simms shows rapt involvement in Comparative Literature.



Barbara Emerich discusses Scottish Folklore.

Debating seems to be Julie Latrell's favorite.



Don Belk explores the "Unknown World."

Social Studies Explores Man's Role in Society

Understanding the relationship between man and society was the goal of the Social Studies Department at Poly.

Besides the requirement of drivers' education, sophomores were offered courses concerning contemporary world problems and the shaping of today's western society. Career Planning, Health Education, Consumer Education (You and Your Money) were also available.

Juniors were required to take American History, but they were given alternatives — regular history classes or Independent Study. Another possibility was Joanne Weinhoff's Twentieth Century History. In Independent Study, juniors were allowed to study history in a creative way on their own. In Twentieth Century History, the emphasis was on current issues in the United States, although other parts of the world were studied.

Seniors were required to take a semester of U. S. Government and a semester of another social studies elective. A variety of classes were available, including Benjamin Levine's full year course Honors Government and Humanities. New classes which enriched the education of seniors were Anthropology, Economics, and Comparative World Religions, taught by Cherry Bramlett, Millicent Polley, and Henry Legere respectively. These classes allowed students to study the development of man, the American economic system and the different religions of the world.

The department chairmen were Sam Dimas, 10th grade, General Education, Hal Jamison, 11th grade and Millicent Polley, 12th grade.

Many Courses Stress Vocational Skills, Arts

At Poly High the student is encouraged to pursue the interests stimulated by exploratory courses and to take further work in as many Industrial Arts areas as possible. The courses offered this year were Automotives, Drafting, Woods, Metals, Graphic Arts, and Electronics. A new class in Wood Construction was taught for the first time by Rex Burrell. This class involved the use of a construction yard in which the students participated in the planning and actual construction of various small buildings.

New to the Industrial Arts Department this year was Wesley Williams, who taught graphic arts and drafting.

Chester Hansen continued as head of Industrial Arts in 71-72.

Business

Consisting of Record Keeping, Bookkeeping, Office Practice, Business Law, Distributive Education, Applied Sales (Student Store), Stenography, and Typing, the Business Department, headed by Andrew Spaan, trains students in some fundamentals which they will need in finding jobs in the future.

The knowledge which these students gain, especially in typing and shorthand, will also be very useful in their other classes.

Home Economics

Poly's Homemaking Department has always helped students to develop special skills and gain information which will benefit them. This year was no exception. Innovative classes were added, Catering, Child Development and Consumer Education. Already on the books were Food Service, Foods and Nutrition, Clothing Selection and Construction and Creative Living. Child Development and Consumer Education, taught by Sharon Smith, were not available at any other high school in Long Beach and provided students and the community adults with training that will help them with future family and buyer problems.

New to the department was Pat McLaren who taught Child Development. Ingrid Larsen again headed the department.

Art Emphasizes Mod Ideas and Concepts

New to the Art Department were Dennis Ruble and Joann Kashiki. These two new teachers were added to the art faculty mainly to teach the new Crafts classes that were offered. In addition Sculpture, Drawing and Painting, Jewelry, Gallery, and Advertising Art were offered.

One of the most interesting of these classes was the Gallery Class taught by Dennis Ruble. This class involved the display of students' art in Hicks Gallery. Various art shows were presented. The shows this year were innovative and refreshing, and the emphasis was on experimentation with contemporary ideas.

Don Swintek headed the department.

Foreign Language Offers Varied Program

Under the guidance of Marietta Williams, the Foreign Language Department continued to offer courses for college, travel, and profit. Aside from the usual modern language offerings, Spanish, French, and German, Poly was one of two schools in the district which offered Latin.

Teaching English as a foreign language to students new in this country was one of the major functions of FL. This course, ESL (English as a Second Language), was further complemented by Bilingual-Bicultural Studies in Spanish.

P.E. Sets "Fitness" as Primary Goal

Physical fitness, sport improvement and recreational pleasure were the main goals in 1971-1972 for the Girls' and Boys' Physical Education Department.

Boys' P.E. was headed by department chairman, Gordon Dooley. A typical session in Boys' P.E. starts off with lining up on designated numbers on the track. The boys go into their squads, which have been chosen at the beginning of the sport unit. They engage in such sports as football, basketball, softball, track, swimming, and volleyball.

Boys' P.E. was composed of Gordon Dooley, who taught remedial P.E., Mike Scarpace, who taught senior P.E., Earle Durley and Dee Andrews, two new teachers taught junior P.E., Troy Winslow, also new to Poly, and Ron Allice taught sophomore P.E.

Girls' P.E. was headed by department chairman Elaine Betz. A typical day in Girls' P.E. starts with the perennial squads, running a lap or so around the track, and participating in such sports as volleyball, modern dance, hockey, tennis, swimming, touchdown, softball, and basketball.

The girls' P.E. teachers were Muriel Talley, a new teacher, Elaine Betz, Terry Gillis, Mary Over, Mary Todd, and Linda Vieth.

The ROTC was created to instill a sense of responsibility and to bring out leadership traits which will help in the future — whether carried out in the military or in daily life.

Some of the events in which the ROTC participated this year were drill competitions against other schools, the Elks Club Competition, the American Legion Competition and the Torrance Invitational. Other events included General Inspection, Leadership Camp, the Thanksgiving turkey shoot, the awards ceremony and the annual military ball.

The cadet officers were: Alvin L. Hayes, Major; Tony Solorazano, Major; Ron Terrell, First Lieutenant; Larry Peralta, First Lieutenant; Paul Repcik, First Lieutenant; Clarence Smith, Second Lieutenant; James McGuiness, Second Lieutenant; and Second Lieutenant, Dennis German. The instructors were Sergeant Major Knight and Sergeant Carney.

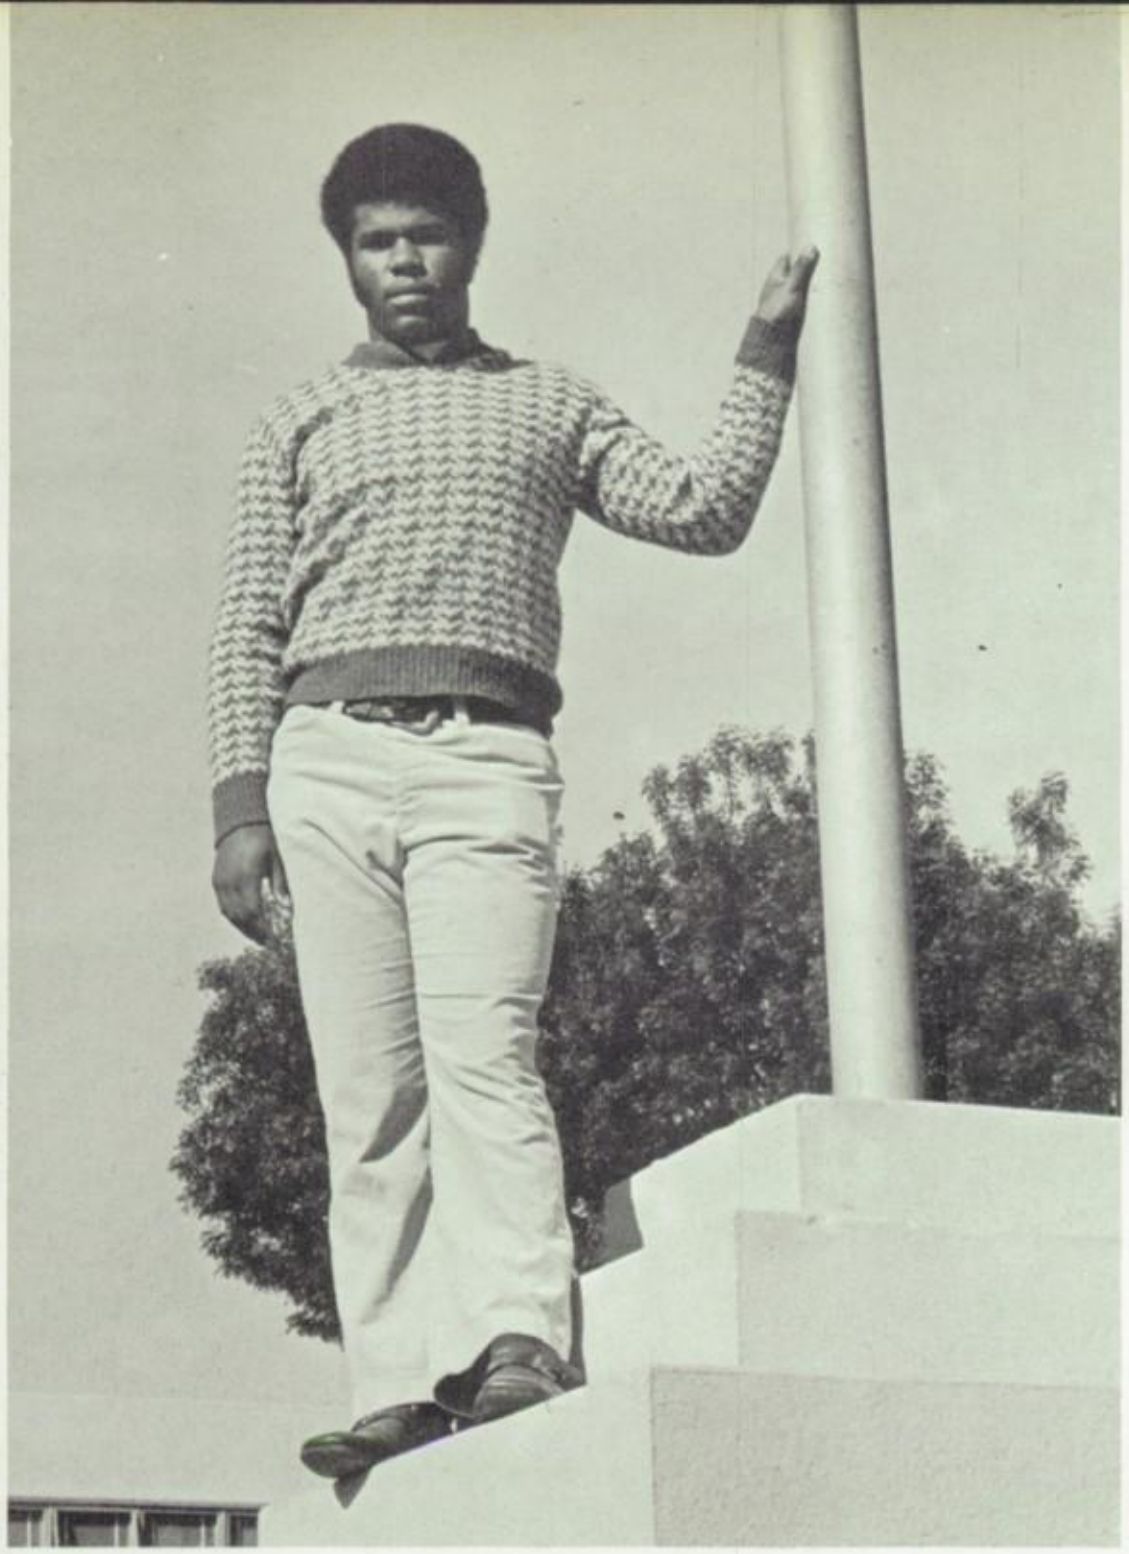
Commission is not all business.



Fall Student Body President Larry Love.

Student Leaders Face Changes, Frustrations

After a few weeks of necessary orientation, the fall commission began to operate in earnest. The first major task was the organization of the new homecoming. By student vote last spring, the traditional homecoming queen had been discontinued, leaving the fall commission to create a new type of observance. The result was a tremendous increase of student involvement. Also new this year, the noon rally became an institution along with sign-up assemblies. Many students before had expressed dissatisfaction because they were forced to attend pep assemblies. Thus, noon rallies and sign-up assemblies were designed for only those who wished to attend.

One of the largest problems facing the fall commission was the lack of "loot" — MONEY. Fall commissioners had to be aware of Poly's financial situation to keep money problems from getting out of hand.

Another problem, according to Student Body President Larry Love, was that a lot of first quarter enthusiasm present in September was lost. "Some of the commissioners and appointed officers became lazy about doing their work. This apathy, along with some student body apathy, made it almost impossible to get many plans to become realities."

"Togetherness" is Motto of Spring Officers

The major concern of the Spring Commission was to make its operations more relevant to all the students at Poly. This was accomplished by setting out to bring the common interests, ideas, and complaints of all the students to the administration.

Despite the diverse composition of the student body, it was apparent that all had certain goals and objectives that the difference of background or color of skin could not change. "Togetherness" was the key word. By working together as an organized student body, the potential for power in matters that affected everyone was without limits.

Mike Robinson stated a few of the meaningful changes that were being sought to insure the equality and respect deserved by every student. "The concerns that faced the class included the revision of the Gold "L" system, a student park on campus wherein all students could sit without being hassled, and a student "Bill of Rights" which would define the sometimes hazy rights of the student on campus."

As Student Body President, Mike generated respect for both the administration and the students, and, by conveying this to the Commission and to the rest of the school, sought with the new-found "togetherness" to make Poly a better place to learn.

Orchestra's Quality Compensates Quantity

Poly's orchestra, although smaller than last year's, proved that quality without quantity can be obtained. The string section was exceptionally good this year.

Outstanding musicians included, Cathy Daggett, Bob Merrell, Chris Enrico, Nathan Richardson, John Lee, Mike Lines and Sue West — wind instruments, and Shirley Wilson, Janet Potter, Diane Otsuki, Kathy Ross, Mary Ann Rhinmiller, Kim Mills, and Linda Mayberry — string instruments.

Under the expert direction of Robert Dill, the orchestra performed such selections as Russian Sailors Dance by Gliere, Suite in Olden Style by Gregg, Concerto Grosso by Handel, and Dance of the Reed Flutes by Tschaikovsky.

Rickey Ivey and Sandra Croom are crowned Mr. and Miss Black History Week.

History Week Observes Black Accomplishments

The week of February 7th was designated Black History Week at Poly. These four days were set aside to make people aware of the many accomplishments of the black people.

The week opened with coronation ceremonies proclaiming the selection of Mr. and Miss Black History Week. This was the first time that this was done. Two students whose job was to be host and hostess during this week of events were selected by the student body. Mr. and Miss Black History Week for 1972 were Ricky Ivey and Sandra Clark.

After the coronation ceremony, the student body was invited to an all-school dance. Live entertainment was provided by "Slim and the Funky Four Plus Four." Other activities throughout the week were an African fashion show, coordinated by Lynette Eddins. During both lunch periods during the week, music by the "Soul Express," African dancing by Ursula Crabble, and poetry by Raymond Jacquette were staged in the auditorium.

Action Boosts Girls' League

Girls' League was as busy as usual this year. The annual Sophomore Breakfast and Pizza Party were held as well as various candy, button and bake sales. The Valentine Telegram Sale was also continued. At Christmas, faculty name tags were made for teachers and the library tree was decorated. It was both an active and successful year for Girls' League.

Win, Lose, or Draw Pep Keeps Spirit Up

Imagine all people united as one.

After a long, hard summer of practices and planning, the pep squads came together to display their accomplishments. The cheereladers, headed by John Rhynerson, arrived with anticipation of a victorious year and had the cheers to prove it. Song and Flag, led by captain Susanne Ishimine, proudly started the year off with colorful new uniforms. "After all, we are the green and gold." The Polyettes looked forward to many a halftime show and assembly led by captains Theresa Alverez and Shirley Wilson.

But it wasn't until these groups were combined that their dreams were fulfilled. The enthusiasm radiated by these motivated Polyites with green and gold flowing in their bloodstreams truly brought Poly together.

The first halftime show labeled "The Rabbits Are Back," proved just that. The band, strengthened with new members, was there to display a soul step routine under the direction of drum majors Dave Smith and Johnson King. The Polyettes and Song and Flag showed originality in their numbers. A memorable performance was the Homecoming halftime with a glittering lights-out program in formations of candles and circles.

Perhaps the teams didn't play up to everyone's hopeful expectations all of the time, but the pride of Poly never faltered. Under the leadership of these groups, Poly was able to withstand defeat when it came. The spirit at Poly never left. It was always there. Pep gave it their all to keep it there and alive.

When Fall President Bill Martin took over Boys' League, he found very little support. The club was disregarded by the students and therefore accomplished little. Spring President Allen Ver-Steeg used his term to try to discover the reason for Boys' League's apparent failure in the hope that next year's club may be more active.

Choral Groups Add Lovely Tones to Poly

Three main groups combined to make up a good part of Poly's music department. They were the Chorale, the A Capella Choir and the Girl's Glee. The most advanced of the groups was the Chorale which was composed of a select group of about fifteen to twenty students. This group performed on the Princess Louise, in the Naples Parade, and in Pzazz. Forty students sang in the A Capella Choir. This year the Choir had a chance to perform in a festival held by Jordan. The twenty girls in the Girl's Choir performed in Poly's Annual Fall Concert.

Music is greatly appreciated by many Poly students. Under the direction of David Humphrey, they have a chance to express themselves and communicate to others with their music.

"Through Eyes of Child" Hi-Lights Swim Program

Girl's Swim, mentored by Phyllis Scribe, had another successful year. During the First semester, which was dedicated wholly to competitive swimming, the Cee teams swam to many victories nearly winning the All-City Championship. The "A" team, although talented, did not fare as well. Outstanding swimmers were Phyllis Schroeder, Denise Fiddler and Debbie Roessler.

Synchronized swimming was emphasized during the second semester in order to prepare for the Swim Show in May. The theme of the show was "Through the Eyes of a Child." The show portrayed various fantasies and familiar childhood happenings. Candy Mahannah was the soloist.

Grace, Poise Products of Modern Dance

In order to develop grace and poise, every girl at Poly is required to take a unit of modern dance during her three years of physical education. If she does well in this unit, she becomes eligible for the advanced modern dance class.

The class was involved in many school activities in '71-'72. Members participated in the Christmas and Spring Concerts in which they showed their talents by dancing to Sleigh Ride and portions of West Side Story. A few girls from the class were involved in this year's jazz concert, "Pzazz." The entire class also performed in a major dance production in May. In this production, the students did the choreography with help from instructor Muriel Talley for some of the dances. They also chose their costumes and created the proper lighting effects.

Those who were unable to be in the class yet interested in modern dance had the opportunity to practice dance techniques every Wednesday after school. Audrey Hamilton was the manager.

Drama Is Active in Major and Minor Shows

Poly's Drama department was active this year, producing two major and four minor productions. One of the requirements for Advanced Drama is the directing of at least one play. The major plays were "Dark of the Moon," starring Bruce Wurl and Noreen Tennant, and "Come Blow Your Horn," starring Fred Blackley and John Schug. The minor productions were "Plaza Suite," directed by Dan Krueger; "Apartment 69," directed by Karin Knowles and Fred Blackley; "Luv" directed by Betty Buckner, and "Shrdlu the Aardvark," a Christmas play produced with the combined efforts of the Drama, Dance and Music departments. Nancy Strating again served as faculty advisor for Drama.

Behind Scenes Works Determines Plays Success

Many things go on behind the scenes to make plays a success. Major productions usually take eight weeks of rehearsal every day after school. After a play is selected by a student committee, the staff director holds "try outs" which are open to all students. From this the cast is selected. The cast spends days of memorization, characterization, blocking, rehearsing, directing, perfecting and making their characterizations as good as possible. Acting is not the only thing to be concerned about in the production. There are sets, lighting, special effects, stage design, costuming, and construction of scenes to consider. This is taken care of by a capable stage crew class and their assistants under the direction of a staff stage manager. After sets are designed, they are constructed by the crew out of wood, paper, canvas, paint and a lot of imagination and talent. Lighting is very important to set the mood, emphasize, and illustrate the various goings on on stage. Costumes must be arranged for. Most are made by hand and fitted especially for the actors. Make-up is an essential act in theater. Many different and unique techniques are used to make the facial gestures visible from a distance. Then, when the publicity is out, the actors are ready, and the stage is set, the lights dim, the curtains open, and the magic of theate: happens.

Drama productions depend on appropriate lighting.

"News Fit to Print," Motto of High Life '72

"Bringing the High Life to the students instead of to the trash cans," was one of the main goals set for the staff this year by M. G. Lord, fall managing editor. The High Life staff hoped this would be possible due to relaxed censorship requirements allowing more freedom of student press.

However, the editors had to tackle many problems before this dream of freedom became reality. Sometimes it was necessary to hold conferences with Principal DuBois to decide what topics could be subject to discussion in the High Life.

Censorship was not the only problem, though. The staff found it necessary to debate the interest value of many stories which were turned in. Occasionally editors disagreed on which stories were worth printing, and the staff found it hard to decide what types of stories and editorials students were most interested in reading.

Karin Knowles, fall editor-in-chief, "We are constantly reminded that the High Life should not only interest students but should prove unoffensive to parents and administrators. Editorials must always be written fairly and carefully so that both end results can be achieved."

Chaos in the print shop, resulting from the lack of a permanent print shop advisor, also brought seemingly unsurmountable technical problems. Outside teachers had to be hired to set copy in their spare time, and it was necessary for a few loyal editors to devote some of their lunch periods, after-school hours, and an occasional Saturday morning to correcting errors.

Caerulea Makes It With Experience

Unlike last year, the staff of '72 Caerulea did not begin to put together the book completely inexperienced. The editors-in-chief and all the section editors with the exception of one have had previous yearbook experience. Three staff members spent a week during the summer at a yearbook clinic.

The editors-in-chief were E. V. Caldwell and Greg Morgan. Throughout the struggle of lost pictures and the panic of deadlines, they stayed together and even managed to smile at each other in the midst of chaos. Yet, even their hard work and the work of section editors, the Caerulea would never have made it into print without the assistance of the advisor — that lovable Mr. "V."

The ideas of the '72 Caerulea began to be shaped last spring and continued to develop even as the book was being produced. The entire staff hopes that the finished book will capture the meaning of Poly High School and hold the remembrance of the year that was — 1972.

"New Homecoming" Brings Fair Atmosphere

On a cold, brisk morning of November 1, (at about 8:05) Poly's campus suddenly lit up with excitement and its people made more noise than ever before. The cheerleaders were in perfect voice and they seemed to reach all who felt this excitement. This day was to mark the seventy-sixth year of Jonathan's life and the beginning of Poly's homecoming week. Wednesday was Poly's day to moan and groan over the death of the poor old Bruins. In the morning, the procession began with five long-faced pall-bearers, followed by "sisters" Katie Cutter and Muriel Peasley and undertaker John Schug, along with one hundred and five young ladies holding flowers and sobbing at the thought that the Bruins were no more. Waiting to greet the coffin were some of the ROTC members who were to make sure that the Bruins were to rest in peace. That afternoon "preacher" James Johnson gave the eulogy, and "sister" Katie along with head cheerleader John Rhynerson and Steve Perez sang "Poor Bruin's Dead." At the end of the funeral, the Song and Flag and Polyettes paid their respects by throwing flowers on the Bruins' coffin. Poly's homecoming day was Thursday this year, but that didn't seem to affect anyone as being abnormal. People were on campus at 5:30 A.M. as usual, but not only to put up displays to the theme "The Rabbits Are Back," but to put up booths in order to sell the wares they brought. The fare was teriyaki, shishkabob, taquitos, fortune cookies, ribbon birds, ice cream, corn-on-the-cob and drinks. There were, as usual, three assemblies in which ex-Song and Flag and ex-cheerleaders performed, along with speaker Dee Andrews and our faculty cheerleaders. The homecoming game came without hesitation and along with it were the illustrious honor grads, including Elizabeth Wallace, Martha Watson, Morley Drury, John Rambo, Chuck Stevens, Rev. Hugh D. Burcham, George Marmion and Tom McEwen. To add to the excitement, a helicopter landed on the field with Larry Love, representing the football team, Susanne Ishimine, Song and Flag captain, and John Rhynerson, head cheerleader. Even though we lost to the Bruins that night, that whole homecoming week will live in the memories of all who were a part of it.

Clubs Integral Part Of Life At Poly

What Poly may lack in other things, it makes up in clubs. That being so, clubs are actually one of the main activities of the entire student body and constitute one of the most prominent institutions on campus. All clubs on campus are chartered. For some students they are a contribution to their education. For others, club membership is a method of being considered an "active" student in regards to acceptance into college. For others, it's a constructive way to have recreation during spare time. Clubs do other jobs. They satisfy the students' needs to be in the company of friends, and they give students a chance to be leaders. They also provide for students to do something beneficial in the community. Clubs bring people of common interests together where otherwise they never would have met.

What could be more exciting than meeting the only other existing armadillo underbelly photographer in the world? So it might happen in the Photography Club. Clubs deal in outstanding events, in pure ecstatic enjoyment and such indulgences as Pizza Parties, concerts, pot-luck dinners, hayrides, and parties. A few of the more ingenious ideas this year were the snow party, hosted by Rowdy Rooters, a sight-seeing trip to San Juan Capistrano by Photography Club and a visit to the Renaissance Fair by Latin Club. Much has also been contributed to the underprivileged through collections made for the United Crusade by Caportia and through donations collected by German Club for St. Jude's Hospital.

Forensics Was Live And Well In 1972

Forensics is once more a part of the scene at Poly High School. It is an academic, competitive organization in which students compete in individual speaking events. Some of the outstanding speakers were Gerald Piglin, Scott Holshbach, Richard Ruby and Mark Zuelch. Some eight tournaments were attended during the year. Bernice Whiteleather was the "fearless" advisor.

Lettermen's Council Comes Alive

Lettermen's Council had a rebirth of activity. Composed of Poly's athletes, the club prided itself on accomplishing as much as possible while following as few rules as possible. Besides continuing the traditional "Athlete of the Week award," Lettermen's Council sponsored the Cross Country team, held a Coaches'-Athletes' football game, performed mad antics during basketball season and initiated the "buy a girl" Song and Flag raffle. Besides these activities, throughout the year the club worked to keep the spirit of athletics alive at Poly.

The club was led by president Greg Morgan, vice-president Mark Tsunawaki, secretary Joe Edles, treasurer Nathan Richardson, chairman of ideas Shawn Ashley and numerous other contributing members.

Girls' Clubs Promote Involvement

Caprice Welfare club is one of Poly's busiest clubs and judging by the thirty-five members is also one of the most popular. The club is composed of sophomore, junior and senior girls with a grade point average of 3.0 or better and selected honorary boy members. With the help of James Duncan, their sponsor, much has been done to help the needy and the poor this year. This Christmas they surprised a family with a pre-decorated tree. To help the club budget, they sold candy and conducted a bake sale.

Portia, another well-involved welfare club, accepts girls with a "B" or better grade point average. They participated in various welfare projects during the year such as collecting for the March of Dimes and wrapping Christmas presents for the Foundation of Mentally Retarded. Slumber parties, Christmas caroling and joints with other schools and clubs were some enjoyable events this year.

A.F.S. In Exchange Of People; Ideas

AFS was more active than usual in the year of 1971-1972. In the summer of '71, Greg Morgan was selected as the Poly representative to Swaziland. Greg spent the summer in the South African country doing what he had been doing at Poly all year — studying. He attended Salesian School at Manzini, an all-African school, and then transferred to Waterford School at Mbabane.

At the beginning of the school year Polyites greeted Cecilia Carvajal from Antofagasta, Chile. Cecilia was the "sister" of Gail Wilkenson during her stay in Long Beach. Her schedule was quite a heavy one here at Poly — U.S. History, U.S. Government, and Bilingual-Bicultural Studies.

Headed by Chris Cole and June Ida, AFS was again engaged in its traditional role of acquainting foreign students with friendliness typical of American hospitality and of Poly High School.

Ushers

Ushers' Club is an organization which promotes its service through school functions and extra-curricular activities. Through the mass anonymity of a crowded auditorium comes a familiar face! An Usher Club member, of course, who leads you safely to your seat. Leaders of this rescue squad are President Diane Otsuki, Vice-President Michelle Stinson, and Corresponding Secretary Julie Manaka.

Chamber of Commerce

Chamber of Commerce was responsible for this year's Homecoming Festivities, which was planned under the direction of Commission and through suggestions of the student body. They also publicized events occurring on campus with the help of advisor Stanton Long.

Key Club

Key club was one of the most popular clubs on campus this past year. President Allen VerSteeg and colleagues have maintained the high standards of Key by keeping of its motto "We build." The main projects this year involved caring for under-privileged children by taking them fishing and to baseball games. The Big Brothers also helped fight birth defects by participating in the March of Dimes. A great deal of this past year's successes is credited to sponsor Mike Scarpace.

German Club

German Club, well known for their social activities, unites German-oriented students and those interested in the German way of life. Their activities this year included two camping trips, Christmas Caroling, dining at a Los Angeles Hofbrau and collecting for UNICEF. Frau Harriet Clement sponsored the group with the help of President Lynn Bingham, Vice-President Myron Cox, Secretary Marianne Wuchner, and Treasurer James Bond.

Rowdy Rooters

Who did Polyites hear cheering the team on to victory at every game regardless of the score? The Rowdy Rooters, of course! The club has been active for many years, cheering from a special section at all the games. The rooters enjoyed a pizza party as a part of their activities. The sponsor was Henry Legere, and the officers were: Tom Hennefer, president; Staci Mueller, vice-president; Jana Sisson, recording secretary; Lanny Mayo, corresponding secretary; Pam Morinaga, treasurer.

Photo Club

The dashing young photographers often times seen taking refuge from an enormous, glassy-eyed crowd behind camera is undoubtedly a member of Photo Club. Members are actually trying to take award winning shots of Poly organizations and personalities for the Caerulea. Under the sponsorship of Arthur Valenzuela and president Dave Tatsumi, Photo Club has, this past year, promoted the fine arts of photography through the yearbook and group projects.

Picture Loan

Despite the fact that Poly Picture Loan is the oldest club on campus, it has not been frequented by males until this year. They have done a splendid job displaying students' art work in the various counseling and administrative offices. Co-presidents were Kay Takamatsu and P. Delliquanti; vice-president — Pam Anderson; secretary — Judy Miyashiro; treasurer — Becky Castanon.

International League

International League is comprised of students from all areas of the world and interested polyites. Their activities this year included a trip to a movie studio and participation in the International Fair, in which the club sold goods from all over the world. The league was sponsored by Laurence Hill, and was led by president Wilma Morris; vice-president, Roger Farr; secretary Marcella Oawicki; treasurer Sherry Gosnell.

Polyethnic Folk Group

"The primary purpose of Polyethnic Folk Group is designed to better equip its members through a sense of folk culture, to understand the underlying drives, enthusiasms, prejudices and loyalties of the American people." The club moved towards these goals through several activities, led by club president, Craig Resnick and sponsor Benjamin Levine. Members heard Rabbi Kahne (head of the Jewish Defense League), a liberal judge from Compton who discussed capital punishment and dined at Fidelity Plaza. Officers were: Kathy Churchill, vice-president; Marica Horn, secretary; Barbara Garcia, treasurer.

Gallery Club

Gallery Club, under the direction of Dennis Ruble, was not only a club but also a class which met during 7th period. The members were responsible for the presentation of Poly's art shows. This covered all aspects of design, selection and lighting for each exhibit. The highlight of the year was a "pot pourri" of student art work.

Black Students Club

Dedicated to bring about a realization of the achievements of the black man. Black Students Club was very successful this year. The club was extremely active in the planning and execution of the Black History Week during which they presented musical tributes and a fashion show of African dress. The hard working officers were Larry McGraw and James Johnson.

O.E.A.

OEA, a function of the Co-operative Education class, was responsible for representing the talents and abilities of the girls of that class. The sponsor was Miss Williams and president Irene Williams.

Interclub Council

Interclub Council consisted of the legal clubs on the campus. The purpose was to establish lines of communication between clubs and the commission. They got together several times each semester to discuss current problems. Lin Takauchi was president and Ross Schickler was the sponsor.

F.E.C.H.A.

F.E.C.H.A. (Federacion Estudiantil Chicana de Aztlan) served as a guild towards the exploration of the Mexican culture and development of a greater appreciation of its heritage and contributions to society. F.E.C.H.A. participated in Chicano History Week, bread sales, and various field days at State College. Officers were: president — Hugo Contreras; vice-president — Rocky Mesa; treasurer — Rita Luna; and sponsor — the "infamous" Arthur Valenzuela.

Quill and Scroll

The elite society of Quill and Scroll is restricted to CAERULEA and JOURNALISM students. The club promotes high standards for their literary works which are introduced periodically to the public. With help from Kathleen Fenberg, the club was revived after years of inactivity and is now a major institution on campus. President M. G. Lord, vice-president Cynthia Stubbs, secretary Kathy Lewis and treasurer Kathy Churchill headed the club.

D.E.C.A.

DECA has been occupied with preparing students to be future leaders in the field of marketing and distribution. The program was guided by John Fylpaa and enabled students to become aware of the business world. The officers were: president — Coretta Scott; vice-president — Ricky Ivey; secretary — Carol Debald and treasurer — Kathy Brill.

Girls' Swim Club

All girls with an affinity for the liquid blue chlorine of the natatorium have joined under the guidance of Phyllis Scribe to produce "Through the Eyes of a Child," the annual swim show. The show took six months in preparing and was choreographed by the girls themselves. Officers of Girl's Swim Club were: president, Barbara Schilling; vice-president, Coni Craig; secretary, Candi Mahannah; treasurer, Leann Cassiday.

Math Club

Math Club's main activity this year was its annual sponsorship of Math Field Day for the junior high schools in the area. This year's calculating leaders were: president, Cindy Frazier; vice-president, Janet Funk; secretary, Janet Salisbury; treasurer, Suzanne Frinell; sponsor, Roy Anderson.

Jackrabbit Club

Poly joggers have finally been recognized! The Jackrabbit Track Club was created to provide everlasting friendships during weekend running marathons. Head bunny was Shawn Ashley; vice-bunny, Greggy Morgan; secretary, David Cottrell; treasurer, Paul Kneitz.

Asian-American Students

Asian American Students Club unites students of Oriental descent interested in Eastern cultures. Their activities this year included a field trip to Cal State Long Beach for a meeting with other Asian groups. Julie Manaka co-ordinated activities with the help of sponsor Joanne Kashiki.

Concerned Students

The Concerned Students Association was formed this year to raise money for underprivileged families in the community. In this way, C.S.A. was hoping to bring these families closer together. A most important project of C.S.A. was raising funds to help with the research of sickle cell anemia. Officers were: president, Karen Body; vice-president, Valeria White; secretary, Toni Trimble; treasurer, Wanda Motley. The sponsors were Martha Watson, William Miller, and Carl Cohn.

Project Tutor

Project Tutor helped Roosevelt Elementary School students who had problems in math, and reading, and also provided companionship for them. June Ida was the coordinator of the club, and Cherry Bramlett was the sponsor.

Brotherhood of Races

Brotherhood of Races got Poly students together through community service, social activities, and campus improvement projects. Through their associations, the members of this club helped create a stronger bond among multiethnic students at Poly.

Old Problems Halt Return of Rabbits

1971 . . . it was the year the Rabbits were to be back. But it seems there was too much to come back against. It was 2-6-1 for the season. What happened?

Begin with the awesome schedule. Redlands, St. Paul, Lakewood, El Rancho, all these teams were rated in C.I.F. top 10 at one time or another. Add a couple of sleepers: Compton, Wilson, and that tells the biggest part of the story.

The old story of new coaches meeting a new team again proved an obstacle for the Rabbits. As late as September 1, Coach Troy Winslow was able to say, "I do not know what my team can do in shoulder pads." Again, there were the makings of a long season for Poly.

The year did start on a promising note, however. In the first game of the season, against Redlands, the combination of Kenny Washington and "Junior" Lee brought the Rabbits back with spectacular passing and receiving respectively to a moral victory and a 14-14 scoreboard tie.

In the following game against Loyola, good play calling brought the Rabbits to dominate the game. The defense shined with Joe Rawlins making a key interception in the linebacker position. The following week, all Poly students' bumpers were shining with "The Rabbits Are Back."

Poly next confronted number 1 C.I.F. football team, St. Paul. It was a good fight, but better teamwork and fast, well-trained linemen added up to the first defeat of the Hares.

Kenny Washington tried to pull it out with great passing against Santa Barbara. As a result, Washington set a new passing record for Long Beach and was chosen Long Beach "back of the week" by the Trojan Club. But the game was lost.

Compton was next on the schedule. The defense looked sharp except for the goal line action. Despite Compton's big, slow linemen, who shouldn't have been a threat, the agile Tarbabe backs outwitted Poly.

The Hares gave Lakewood a severe punishment for their homecoming game but were defeated in. the last few minutes. The refs may have ruined the chance for a T.D. in the last minute of the first half. Mark Tsunawaki was great, almost breaking out on runbacks, and Marty Patterson showed great talent with his hands.

Next, the homecoming game, against that age old rival of Poly — Wilson. The team lacked finesse. Simple mistakes made the difference. The defense was not able to plug Wilson's excellent offensive line.

The game against El Rancho opened with Poly running 50 yards after the kickoff to set an early score in the first series of plays. But the defense relaxed to let El Rancho score in the next series. The rest of the game was dominated by the Dons except for the last 12 seconds when a pass thrown to Patterson by Washington gained 6 points.

Millikan didn't want to play ball. A blocked punt by Corsan was recovered by Larry Love in the end zone. Washington set a new Poly record for total passing. After a two year drought, Poly had a victory in the Moore League. Linemen played a great role in holding Moore League star running back, Marino.

Once again Poly looks to next year. Will the Rabbits be back in 72?

New Coaching Staff Hope For Poly Grid Comeback

The main reason behind the resurge in hope for Poly's football team was the arrival of new head coach, Troy Winslow and his outstanding staff. The former quarterback of the USC Rose Bowl team of 1965, came to Poly and to his first head coaching assignment. Winslow's goal at Poly is to restore the football program to the excellence it has known in previous years.

With Winslow came a lot of new coaching talent. First there were USC graduates, Mike Scarpace and Theo Viltz. Scarpace attended USC with Winslow and played offensive guard earning All-American honors twice. He coached both the offensive and defensive lines at Poly. Wiltz also played football at USC, but was more known for his track abilities. He placed third in the NCAA 120 high hurdles. Still, he played football with the Houston Oilers for two seasons. Viltz coached the defensive backs.

Dee Andrews and Earl Durley were the other new coaches. Andrews, a Poly graduate and CIF football Player of the Year, was a Junior College all-American and played with the Dallas Cowboys. He coached the receivers. Coach Durley was a lineman at Pierce J.C. and Tulsa before coming to Poly where he coached the line.

It always takes time for new coaches and players to adjust to each other, and it's the hope of Poly that once the adjustment is made, this fine coaching staff will return Poly football to the excellence it once knew.

J.V.s, Sophs Fare Badly in '71 Grid Wars

The J.V.'s finished 2-6 overall and only 1-4 in the league. The team took fourth place. However, two individuals did distinguish themselves as outstanding prospects: Joe Jensen and Danny Costales. Jensen was awarded the Best Lineman trophy and Costales received Most Inspirational. Costales, a starter in every game, played both offense and defense, but specialized as defensive back. Coach was Sgt. Robert Carney.

The Bees, coached by Rex Burrell, had a very rough season, winning only one game against seven defeats. The team leader on the field was quarterback Dick Hedley. The Bee's attack was led by the running of Lamar Rush, who appears to be good material for next year's varsity team. The team captain was Ronny Ono.

Cross Country Overcomes Odds for Second Place

The season began with bright hopes for the Cross Country team. Last year's leading runner, and Moore League Champion, Dave Cottrell, was returning to competition after an injury. Three outstanding sophomores joined the team, and experienced returnees added depth. Coach Ron Allice set his sights on nothing short of qualifying for the CIF Finals and contending for the championship. A second place finish in the Long Beach Invitational behind pre-season favorite Lakewood brightened the hopes and promised improvement. Even dual meet losses to Mira Costa and Aviation didn't dampen the hopes. The team was gaining strength each week. The Moore League began with a convincing victory over Compton, but it was apparent that Cottrell was having difficulty overcoming the effects of a long layoff due to his injury. Kenny Yates soon evolved as the leading runner on the team. After a loss to Lakewood, Poly recorded victories over Wilson and El Rancho before losing again, this time to Millikan. The chance of capturing a tie for the league title was slim, but Coach Allice remained confident. Despite his hopes and expectations, Poly took third in the league finals race and an overall second in the league standings.

The team was headed by Kenny Yates, who placed fourth in the Moore League, with the support of Cottrell and three sophomores, Gary Brodie, Perry Maloney, and Jamie Nunez. Paul Kneitz and Jeff Haynes rounded out the varsity squad.

The J.V.s finished in a tie for third place in the Moore League. The team was led by George Newsome, Houdina James, Nathan Richardson, and Shawn Ashley and Greg Morgan.

The season ended with a note of sorrow as Coach Allice announced his plans to leave Poly to coach at Cal Poly, Pomona. The Cross Country team, and the school, wish him well and say "thank you" to a leader and a friend.

Water Polo Starts Slow; Is Strong at Finish

The varsity water polo team got off to a slow start but finished the season very strong. The team was led by first team Moore Leaguer, John Burt, a senior, and second team, Mark Ouimette, a junior. Two seniors received honorable mention. They were John Adler and Roy Lightbody. Water polo defeated CIF ranked Santa Monica 8-7 and El Rancho 4-2. In the league final was a loss to Millikan by a free shot, 5-4. Other regulars on the squad were juniors Stan Bork, and Tim Ledford, along with seniors Steve Miles and Steve Garrison.

The sophomore and J.V. teams were composed of all sophomores, with the better ones playing on the J.V.s. Although they dropped 9 and won 1, the experience gained was invaluable to the building of next year's team. The outstanding players were Kevin King, Steve Cole, Tim Baden, Dan O'Toole, Eric Carter, Bill Sheilds, and Chuck Panzer.

Cagers Make Second Round of CIF Play

Varsity Basketball did not go all the way in the quest for the CIF championship, but it did put forth a championship effort. In pre-season action, the Jackrabbits outscored their opponents by an average of twenty points. With this strong background of victories, Poly then entered into what was to become the most tightly contested race in Moore League history. First, there were convincing wins over Compton and Lakewood, then a determined come-from-behind victory over Wilson in overtime. Hopes and spirits, were high until a shocking 73-60 defeat by El Rancho. The team could not return to its winning form again until after two more losses to Millikan and Compton. It then won two of its last three league games over Wilson and El Rancho, losing finally only to Millikan.

The final standings found Poly 6-4, tied for second place with both Wilson and Compton. By a coin flip, Poly was granted a CIF play-off berth along with Millikan and Compton (who won over Wilson). In the first round of competition, Santa Monica was overwhelmed by the Jackrabbits, 72-57. The team was then faced with the toughest test of its season — Morningside High. Despite a desperate fourth quarter surge, Poly was eliminated by Morningside, 64-59. Thus the season ended with a 20-7 record.

All League center Dave Hillman led the team with an average of 19.1 points a game. His strong, intimidating play was the difference between victory and defeat in many games. Dave Erickson, also a returnee from last year's varsity squad, averaged 11.2 points. The other forward, Junior Lee, though he averaged only 5.3 points, provided outstanding defensive play. Two starting juniors, Tyrone Spears and Dale Dillion, were largely responsible for the late season victories which enabled Poly to reach the CIF playoffs. Spears accurate outside shooting and Dillons alert play-making will be assets to next year's team.

There was disappointment at the season's end but no despair. The team produced more victories and a better record than anyone had hoped for and the outstanding juniors give hope for another fine season next year.

Balanced Attack Gives J.V.'s League Title

The J.V. Basketball team, guided by Coach Tim Sweeny, brought home the best record of all Poly basketball teams, 21 victories with only 2 defeats. Led by Cartier Reedus and Eldridge Jones, the team humiliated most opponents, often running up a lead of 20-30 points. Fine play by sophomore guard Eric Butler, center Doug Butler and guard Mark Lovelace rounded out a balanced scoring attack.

The J.V. team was unique in that it brought Poly it's first Moore League title of the year.

Bee's, Cee's Capture 2nd in League Race

The Bee and Cee teams had very similar seasons. Both finished the Moore League in second place, missing first place only by last game defeats to Millikan. They had league records of 6-4 and 7-3, respectively.

The Bees were 18-5 overall. They were led by Ted Cellar and Kim Joiner who both averaged 10 points per game. David Burrows averaged 9 rebounds and 4 assists a game.

The Cees were 15-4 overall. Paul Tyo, Jamie Nunez and Jim Lynch were the top scorers. Rebounds were pulled down most frequently by Steve Coleman.

It is this type of quality playing in the Bee and Cee teams which promise outstanding teams in the future on the varsity level.

Wrestling Frustrated by Rugged Moore League Competition

The league showing of Poly's Wrestling team demonstrated the top quality of wrestling within the Moore League. Poly's squad had plenty of power. Rickly Shorts took third in the rough Hawthorne Takedown Tournament, Tim Hamade captured second in both the Neff and Kennedy Tournaments and Mark Tsunawaki took second at Neff. But in the hard Moore League competition, Poly could only manage a fourth place finish. Tsunawaki repeated as league champion while Hamade gained a hard fought second place. Nathan Richardson and Joe Jensen both took third in their respective weight classes. Rick Perrie, a junior prospect, was sidelined most of the season with an ankle injury. Despite a frustrating season, the team looks forward to next year when Hamade, Jensen and Perrie will be back in action.

Swimmer Hopes High for Winning Year

Coached by Dick Miller and Herold Cole, the varsity swim team looked forward to a very good year and finishing high in the league standings. The strong point of the team was its sprint and medley relay squads as well as strong individual efforts. Juniors Mark Ouimette and Stan Bork returned after a record-setting season last year to star in the distance freestyle events. John Adler, and John Burt were sprint freestylists, and Steve Miles swam breaststroke. Roy Lightbody specialized in butterfly, and Steve Garrison swam backstroke.

The Bee and Cee teams are composed of mostly sophomores. However, Tim Ledford, a junior, and Mike Janich, a senior, are expected to lead the Bees to a fine record. The Cees also look to a good year, led by Marty Jensen in the freestyle, Dan O'Toole in the backstroke and Dave Cole in the breaststroke.

Track Set to Go All the Way to State

The goal is set. First-year coach Jim Richardson wants a state championship. What may have seemed impossible to any other team, is well within reach of Poly track. The team has proved it.

The first meet of the season with Muir and Locke saw James Royal run the 120 high hurdles in 14.0, Elvie Howard and Paul Kneitz race through a 1:58 half mile, Leonard Ross run a 9.8 100 and the 440 relay team tie the school record of 42.1.

In the second meet, Poly soundly defeated Pasadena, 77-41. One week later, the Rabbits outran Dominguez and Morningside in a triangular meet, 75-37½-35½. The final challenge before the beginning of league competition was the Southern Countries Invitational, commonly regarded as the "CIF preview." With clutch performance from Ricky Ivey, Carl Miles, Junior Lee and James Royal, Poly gained a tie with Santa Ana and retained the championship trophy for the third consecutive year. Looking forward to league meets, Coach Richardson regards his team as having both stars and depth. Consistent performances by Dave Cottrel in the mile, Maurice Valentine in the shop put, Tony Rivera in the pole vault and both relays teams insure a successful season.

In short, Poly is a team that can "go all the way!"

Gymnastics, coached by Jim Fortain, performed very well in spite of having only eight members and competing against teams three times in size. Outstanding performers were Mike Harada in floor exercises and long horse, Frank Catamerisios on high bar, rings, and parallel bars as well as James Taylor and Pat LaRue as all-around performers. Harada, Catamerisios and LaRue were seniors, while Taylor is a sophomore. Taylor was ineligible part of the season due to league rules but returned to lead the team.

Golfer Plan Surprise for Moore League Foe

The Poly gold team may be a surprise this year. With Jim Walker (who is shooting a 37 average) and Steve Hastings as returning varsity lettermen, the team has a strong backbone. Support comes from returning JV lettermen Dave Morgan, Keith Matoi, Jon Lee and Dave Simcox. George Talin, a sophomore, appears to be a great asset to the varsity team.

The teams to beat for the Moore League title are Millikan and Wilson, but the Rabbits must first defeat Lakewood to sustain any hopes. Many hours of hard work and coaching from Sam Dimas have provided the team with just the skill and confidence it will need in the league race.

Tennis in Contention for Moore Crown

Highly rated and unbeaten in eight pre-season matches, the varsity tennis team is favored to win Poly's first Moore League tennis title this year. Leading the way to the championship will be two time all-CIF, all-League and all-City player, Joe Edles. Bill Koran, John Rhynerson and Dennis Easter combine for a strong singles attack while Allen VerSteeg and Zino Nakasuji comprise one of the leagues better doubles teams.

Asked of his team's balance, Coach Nick Trutanich replied, "We have very good depth this year and we should bring to Poly its first tennis championship." He also added, "I'm sure we'll be the target of attack from the other Moore League teams, but we'll be ready!"

Baseball Looks Towards a Promising Season

All-league selection Gary Price headed a list of six returning lettermen on the baseball squad. The others were Steve Castillo, Don Doughty, Mike Hutton, Chris Jenner and John Zink. The remainder of the team was filled out by Kaz Hata, Claytor Salter and Art Ware, all up from the JV team. Led by second year coach Ardie Boyd, the team is determined to fare better than last year's disappointing effort and entered league competition with a 2-2 pre-season record. Coach Boyd has both praise and promise for his pitching staff which is composed of sophomore Dick Hedley, juniors Kevin Matoi and Alan Rye and veteran senior Mike Hutton. Not only will these pitchers serve the team this year, but they will provide a strong nucleus for next year's team.

Junior Lee: Athlete of the Year

Poly has traditionally been the home of outstanding athletes. Such reknown names as McCullouch, Washington and Andrews appear on Poly trophies. To be Poly's Athlete of the Year demands that the standard of sport's excellence has been maintained. By the decision of the coaching staff, the athlete who has most clearly displayed that quality is Marion "Junior" Lee. As a starter in both football and basketball, Lee proved that the days of fine athletes and athletics are not gone from Poly. Lee has also competed in track, the 440, highjump and longjump.

G.A.A. Active in Fall Sports Competitions

Many after-school sports were offered for Poly girls by GAA to participate in freely. A few of the sports organized teams that competed city-wide in "play-days."

In the fall, touchdown, tennis, swimming and volleyball were offered. With the cooperation of the students and teachers, touchdown was a very important sport, although the team didn't place for all-city. However, hard work and sportsmanship was the result of the effort put forth by the girls. Outstanding players were Irene Williams, Cassanda Stipes, Shirley Washington. The tennis team fared better. They placed in a three-way tie for first with Lakewood and Wilson in an all-city "round-robin." The team did an outstanding job, even though top seeded player Diane Desfor was unable to compete with the team due to a back injury. Becky Edles and Mary Tucker led the team under Elaine Betz. Swimming and volleyball also were competitive. Swimming met during 7th period and was organized into three competitive levels: A, B, and C.

Spring Sports Look to Successful Season

In the spring semester, more sports were offered. These included basketball, badminton, softball, golf, gymnastics, dance and track. Basketball had an exciting season. Competition was fast and furious but rewarding. This year the team played each school only once, but next year it will have a "round robin," meaning it will play each team twice to determine the all-city winner. The badminton team is looking towards the all-city title again this year, after a sweep by last year's team. Poly faces stiff competition, but, with the help of outstanding player Judy Verner, the enthusiastic team should overpower the opposition. With meets at Compton and other big track schools, the girl's track team ran through an eventful season, competing in the 440 yard relay, 50 yard dash, 440 run, shot put, long jump, high jump and 880 yard relay. With the coaching of Linda Vieth and Olympian Martha Watson, the outstanding runners made the team something special.

The officers and and advisory board of the Girl's Athletic Association were responsible for the high level of success of this year's GAA. Under the direction of advisor Linda Vieth and president Judy Verner, the board organized "play-days" and conducted candy sales to earn money to sponsor activities.

Robert,

May I wish you all the luck in the world next year in taking chemistry because you will need it if you want to get the grade you made in Biology. Good luck again and I hope to see you again.

Community and School Recognize Achievements

A number of Poly seniors were recipients of special awards given by community organizations. The Bank of America honored an outstanding student from each department. The Betty Crocker Award was given to the highest scorer on the "Homemaker of the Future" test and the American Legion selected the Boys' and Girls' State representatives. Each award winner was well deserving the recognition of achievement.

The purpose of the Gold L is to develop all-around achievement by encouraging participation not only in scholarship, but also in service, athletics, music and drama. To earn a Gold L, one needs 15 points; a 1 Jeweled L 30 points, and a 2 Jeweled L 45 points. Points may be earned by being a club member or officer, participating in music groups, drama, pepsters, athletics or serving the school in some distinguished manner.

Poly Students Win Scholastic Honors

California Scholarship Federation is an honorary club for students who have achieved well academically. Ten points are required to become a member. A's count three points and B's one point. Under the leadership of Presidents Jana Sisson and Nathan Richardson and sponsors Nancy Gray and Barbara Kemmer, CSF participated in such activities as the Renaissance Fair at California State College, Long Beach and Honors Day at Long Beach City College.

National Honor Society is composed of sophomores, juniors and seniors who have a 3.0 grade point average and qualities of leadership, service and citizenship. This year, under the direction of Rosalynn Monaghan and Betty Campbell, sponsors, and Greg Morgan and Diane Desfor, presidents, NHS went to Honors Day at LBCC, on a field trip, and held an ice cream social for the NHS seniors.

Poly's National Merit Finalists for 1971 were James Bond and Steve Jensen. By earning a score over the 95th percentile on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, these boys will vie in national competition for the scholarship.

Less than one percent of students in the United States who take the Scholastic Aptitude Test or the Achievement Tests score 800, which is a perfect score. Three students from Poly did, however, achieve this score. They were James Bond (Chemistry), Steve Jensen (English Composition and Math Level II), and Gary Toyama (Math Level II).

800 CLUB — Steve Jensen, Gary Toyama, James Bond.

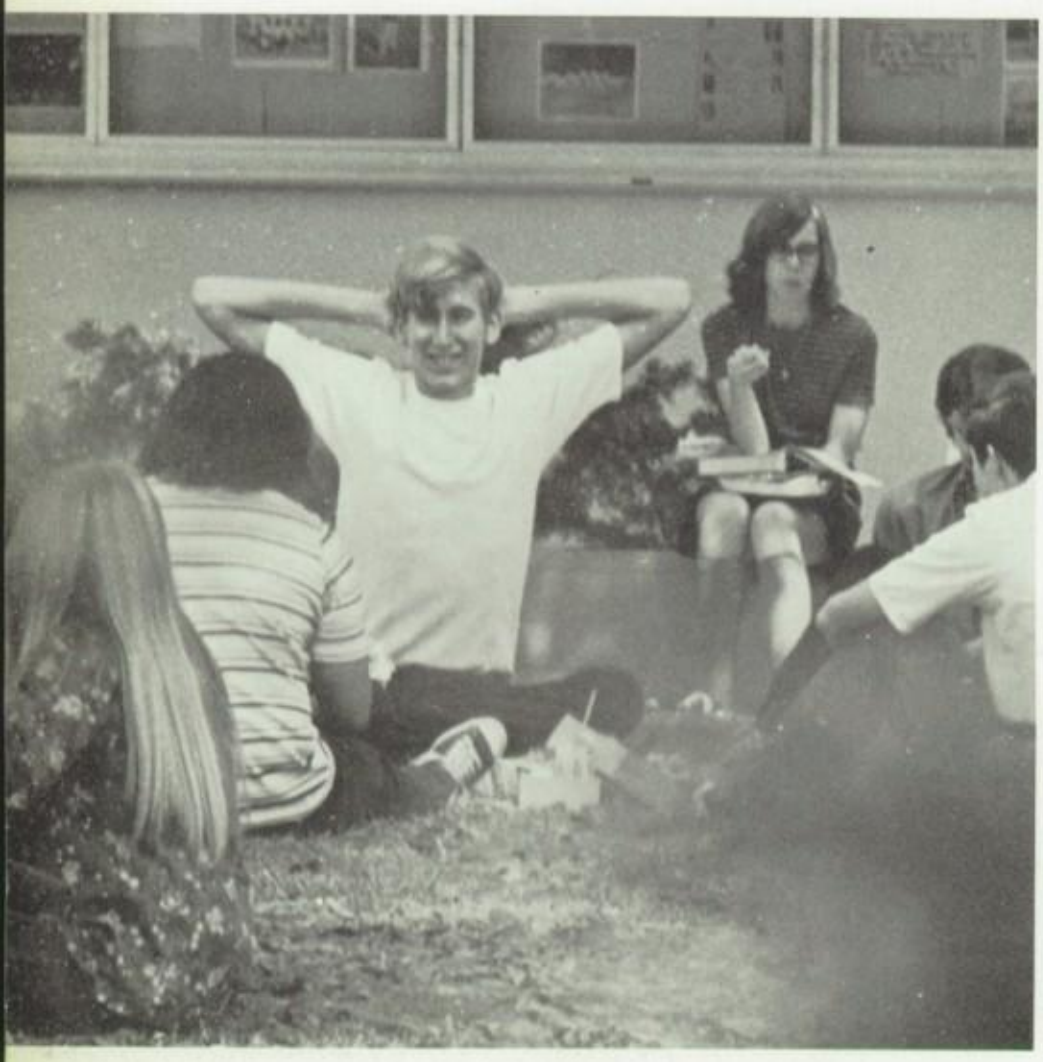
Seniors, Lower Classmen Get Excellence Credit

To be a sealbearer, a senior must have earned four semesters of membership in the California Scholarship Federation, including one semester in his senior year. These seniors receive special recognition from colleges and universities for their accomplishments.

The 4.0 Club is comprised of those students who have earned all A's for one semester, and also of those who have accumulated 4.0 grade point average.

For the first tim.. s.phomores and juniors were given recognition as outstanding participants in certain curricular areas as chosen by the department heads.

Following Caerulea tradition, the department heads also chose the most outstanding seniors to receive the annual Caerulea Award. The seniors were honored for their strong efforts through three years of high school work.



Poly

We don't live in the same world we entered in September.
Our world has been "enlarged" by 800 million people,
There have been new wars and the same old ones,
new answers and old realities.
We have changed also.
Suddenly we have become voters.
We have new dreams to build, new thrills to experience,
We've met new people,
and some we've taken the time to know.
Yet in spite of the change of this year or even years to come, whatever our world may become,
it will always be slightly the world of Poly.

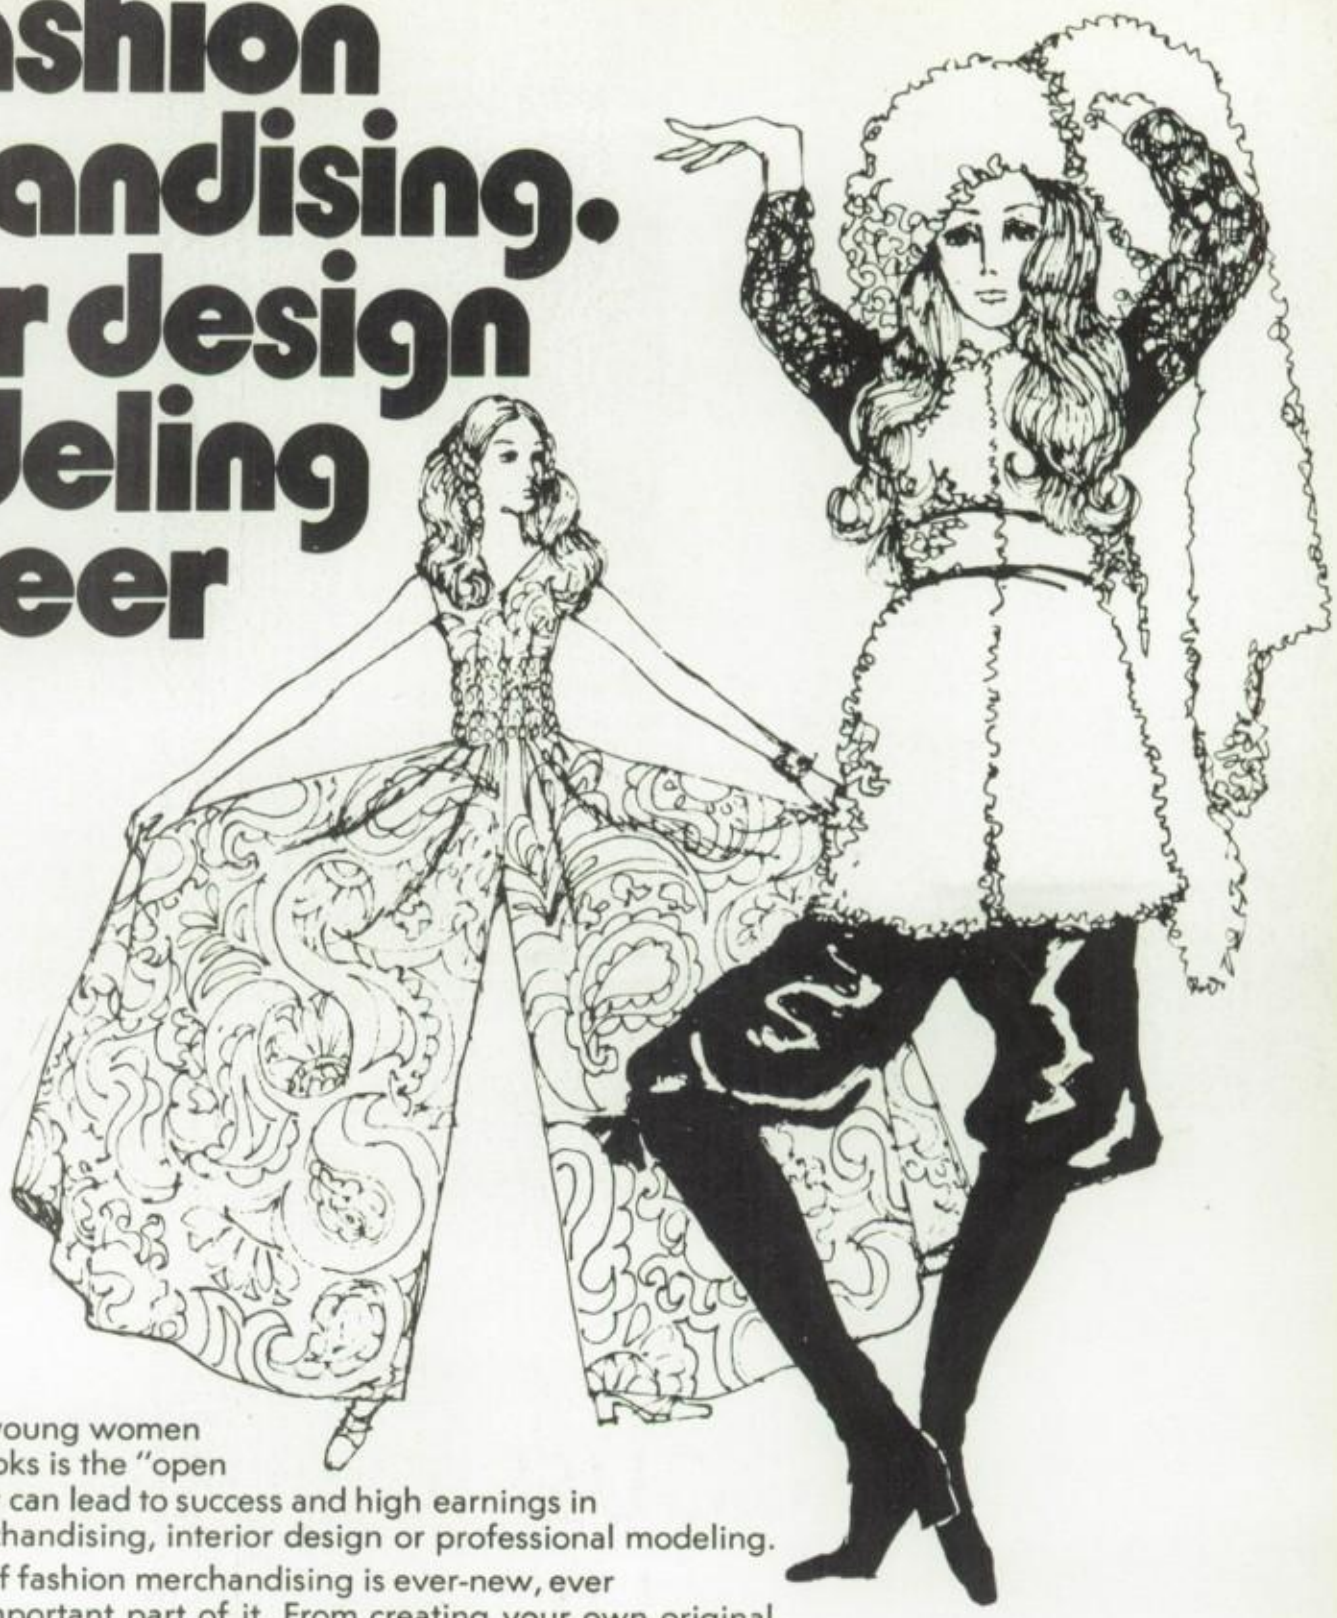
a fashion merchandising. interior design or modeling career



More than a training ground for young women about to embark on a career. Brooks is the "open sesame" to a new way of life that can lead to success and high earnings in your chosen field of fashion merchandising, interior design or professional modeling.

The glittering, fast-paced world of fashion merchandising is ever-new, ever changing. And you can be an important part of it. From creating your own original boutique line to being a buyer for a chain of quality department stores.

As a career, fashion merchandising offers a wide range of opportunities for women in salaried executive and supervisory positions that can lead to success and high earnings.

Interior Design is a high-income field where you can be in your glory.

Your work is varied and interesting, frequently taking you and your clients into plush showrooms and exclusive shops filled with treasures. You move in a world of creativity and challenge that is ever-new.

Interior designers are busy in many areas. Besides homes, their talents are employed in planning interiors for business offices, hotel rooms, clubs and institutions, building lobbies.

The world of the professional model is one of lights, cameras, beautiful clothes, being "on stage." From wearing famous designer creations at a fashion show . . . gracing the cover of a national magazine or billboard . . . being seen smiling on a television commercial.

She is part of the excitement of New York, the sophistication of San Francisco, the romance of Paris, the beat of London.

AGENTS FOR POLY CLASS RINGS AND SENIOR ANNOUNCEMENTS

"Don't Settle for Second-Rate Schools"

To Robert,
It's really been nice
knowing you all these years.
You are really a sweet young man to know.
Remember the 4th grade?
Well I would've never
that I made it this far.
Anyway, have a wonderful
Summer ... and I wish you all the happiness there is in life
Always remember me
See ya next year
Love,

IN IT. THERE WAS'NT
A DULL MOMENT ALL YEAR.
GOOD LUCK IN YOUR SENIOR YEAR.

Mayanne '74.

Robert,
Stay cool, blood
and take it slow
over the summer.
Paul Bayer

Robert,
It has been interesting having you in class this semester.
I wish you the best of luck next year. In the meantime, have a marvelous summer vacation!
Mrs. Shelley

Robert,
It's been nice knowing you.
Have a cool summer,
See you next year
Georgeowda

Robert,
It's been nice knowing you,
Have a cool summer,
And a hot winter
By-a-way. I think you better not take any more math, because it will only drive you crazy.
Ming

Hey Robert,
Long time no see (I know I should have written sooner.) I hope you enjoyed this year. It was pretty fun. I'm sure I have enjoyed your company (most of the time) and

Hey Robert!
What is all this? I right?
I right or was I right?
You're crazy. I'll do anyway it was fun knowing you in History notes and Hope you got a lot from all my history notes and all the other stuff. I'll good luck next year hope you find someone to take all your notes and give ya the answers and all maybe I'll be in your class next year. You're gonna be a BIG BDD SENIOR next year here? Why not get some sophomore as your work for you. I'll good luck next year.
